Cancel Wednesday-Thursday classes; teachers fail to report today; 12-hour talks bring progress

School negotiators labored long and hard on Labor Day, meeting for 12 hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Classes will not start in Granite City until Friday, at the earliest.

Yesterday's marathon bargaining session ended with both teams weary and no agreement reached. Considerable progress was made, however, and the list of remaining issues was narrowed, the negotiators said.

Due to their desire not to work without an agreement, individuals on both sides failed to report for today's scheduled "institute day," consisting of orientation meetings with administration and principals.

Reacting to instructors' failure to report as a strike, the school district canceled classes for students tomorrow and Thursday. There already has been a one-week delay in launching the 1979-80 school term.

A news release issued by the Granite City school district today took a somewhat optimistic viewpoint.

It stated, "Classes for students will start on Friday, Sept. 7. Half-day classes are scheduled."

If the half-day session takes place Friday, full-day student attendance will start Monday, Sept. 10.

Teachers declined to characterize their action as a strike but did set up a telephoning system to acquaint all members of Federation of Teachers Local 743 with the status of the talks.

Faculty members said they expect to see negotiations resume following a regular Board of Education meeting set for 7:30 tonight. The board members and administrators who are representing the school district in the talks will update the full board on what has been agreed upon thus far.

The term-opening teacher institute was slated to begin at 9 a.m. today at Granite City High School North.

Reached at North, School Supt. Bob J. Davis said not enough teachers were in attendance to justify proceeding with the scheduled start of student attendance on Wednesday.

He will recommend to the board that no classes be held tomorrow or Thursday. Board members have agreed with his recommendation in an informal poll, and will formally approve it tonight.

The action leaves open the possibility of students reporting on Friday, but a decision on that remains to be made, based on whether a full agreement can be reached quickly.

The board closed Washington, Stallings and McKinley grade schools as an economy move and to help in providing sufficient funds to upgrade staff members' pay. There is speculation that substantial raises are likely to be given. Local 743 says teacher pay has failed to keep pace with inflation.

Whether accord can be reached promptly on salary levels and other benefits is unknown.

The sixth bargaining session took place Thursday evening. Teachers conferred Friday and assailed the board for failing to agree to advisory arbitration.

The School Board met Saturday and formally proposed that a federal mediator be called in. The teachers rejected mediation and suggested that negotiations be held Monday, leading to the lengthy Labor Day deliberations.

Talks with school secretaries, also represented by Local 743, are being held in abeyance while the teacher negotiations proceed.

Progress of talks with custodians and cooks represented by Service Employees Local 98 also is to be discussed by the board tonight. The talks continued after a tentative settlement was voted down, and no strike has been threatened.

The letter from President Stoll of the Granite City Federation of Teachers to School Board President Donald Stucke Friday night, Aug. 31, was as follows: "At a meeting of the Granite City Federation of Teachers on Aug. 31, it was the unequivocal position of the membership that the School Board proposal made to the teachers' negotiating committee on Thursday evening, Aug. 30, did not constitute a true attempt to resolve contract dif-

Derr is a business major at Parkland College in Champaign, and plans to become a cadet in the Reserve Officer Training Corps at the University of Illinois next year. Company B returned to its army in Urbana, Ill., last week.

Growing support for a new lock, dam in area

Illinois Agriculture Director John R. Block has praised the nation's Midwestern governors for their pledge to work "in every way possible within their respective states to expedite construction of a new Lock and Dam 26" at Alton.

The governors also urged the president and Congress to join them in the effort by assigning a high priority to the project.

The Justice Department on Friday asked that a trial on the issue begin by mid-October.

In a policy resolution submitted last week by Gov. James R. Thompson and co-sponsored by Governors Robert Ray of Iowa, Joseph Tensdale of Missouri, Lee Dreyfus of Wisconsin and Julian Carroll of Kentucky, the governors said waiting periods of two to four days are common and waste millions of dollars worth of labor and fuel each year.

They said the "deteriorated condition and inefficient design" of the present structure also threaten "the future ability of the Midwest to rely on this vital mode of transportation."

More than $5 billion worth of goods are shipped through this point every year, Block said.

The governors said they were committed to reducing dependence on foreign oil, and that insuring the continued operation of the fuel-efficient inland waterway is one way to do this.

Director Block said, "The importance of Lock and Dam 26 to Illinois, the Midwest and their economies is immeasurable."

As the nation's leading exporters of agricultural products, we ship hundreds of millions of bushels of grain down the Mississippi. And the lion's share of that goes through Lock and Dam 26.

JUDGE MOSES HARRISON

Harrison will succeed Geo. Moran

Illinois Fifth District Appellate Court Judge George Moran Sr. retired effective yesterday and is being replaced today by Chief Circuit Judge Moses W. Harrison II.

A circuit judge since 1973, Harrison became the chief judge of the Third Circuit (Madison and Bond counties) on July 1, 1978.

The Collinsville resident, 47, was chosen Friday by the Illinois Supreme Court for Moran's appellate judge

Walker probe in county

The Walker administration has ended, but the memory lingers on for Madison Countyans as well as other Illinoisans.

Walker Dan Walker served as governor from 1973 to early 1977, ably demonstrating how to be a one-term rather than a longtime governor, critics contend.

Financial transactions related to his unsuccessful 1976 primary renomination campaign are keeping the spotlight on his reign, mainly focusing on any possible relationship between political gifts and state contracts.

Kenneth Walton, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office at the state capital, said last week he may present evidence to U. S. grand jury about March or April 1980. He declined to name targets of the probe.

Those mentioned as being interviewed for any recollections they have of renomination efforts are Granite City Assessor Von Dee Cruse, former Collinsville mayor Lewis Krause, Gary Fears of Collinsville and Victor DeGrazia, top administrator in the executive branch, during the Walker years.

Fears, a businessman and developer, once told the Press-Record he had been placed in charge of this region of the state by Gov. Walker.

Now 33, he joined the Department (Continued on Page 7)

Routing to Missouri for GC-to-GC mail

By MICK STRANGE

Under new procedures of the Granite City post office, delivery of letters mailed in Granite City to a Granite City address could now take three days.

Following a federal staffing and scheduling team visit here, new procedures were adopted.

Granite City residents should pay strict attention to the mail pickup times listed on the mail boxes in the city and at the main post office, a postal spokesman said.

All mail now has to go to St. Louis as part of the area mail processing system, the post office spokesman said.

If a Granite City resident wants a letter delivered the next day in Granite City, the latest it can be mailed is 6:15 p.m. at the main post office, 2350 Madison Ave. The letter will then go to St. Louis for processing and returned to Granite City for delivery here the next day.

Times of mail pickups in boxes around the city have been moved back and are earlier in the day. For example, if a letter is dropped into a mail box after an 11 a.m. pickup time on a Wednesday, it would not be picked up

'Bullet train' here?

State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and State Representative Celeste Stiehl (R-Bellefonte) have announced action taken by the Illinois Transportation Study Commission, on which they both serve as members, to include the St. Louis metropolitan area in discussions now being initiated with several other states regarding the feasibility of establishing high-speed rail corridors linking major metropolitan centers in several of the Midwestern states east of the Mississippi River.

In Chicago last week, the Illinois Transportation Study Commission hosted a meeting of Illinois transportation officials and state legislators from Ohio and Pennsylvania to listen to a proposal from the Ohio Rail Transportation Authority that the seven states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Illinois enter into an interstate pact.

The compact is designed to develop plans to establish high-speed rail passenger service, similar to the Japanese "bullet trains" which operate at speeds in excess of 130 miles per hour, between the major metropolitan centers in these states.

Under the auspices of the Ohio Rail Transportation Authority, the state of Ohio has already completed a preliminary feasibility study of the potential for such service in that state;

Rebuilding of cities forecast by Gibson

By ROBERT G. GIBSON

President, Illinois State Federation of Labor. Those of us who have the privilege of representing working people see the message of Labor Day as a challenge. The tributes to working people on the first Monday of each September are appropriate expressions of honor to the men and women who have established our nation as the most productive in the free world.

Through their organizations, working people have helped create a more humane society in the United States through collective bargaining, legislation and effective action wherever decisions affecting workers are made.

Accordingly, Labor Day is when we examine where we have been as a movement, where we are today and where we will be tomorrow.

It is most gratifying to be selected to lead one of the finest labor organizations in our country for the next four years. The Illinois State AFL-CIO has a record of accomplishment which has helped every worker in our state, whether in unions or unorganized.

We have a solid foundation on which to build.

Madison, Venice enrollment down

Preliminary enrollment figures for Madison public schools showed a decline of 145 students, with an early enrollment of 1,638 compared to 1,783 last year.

More students are expected this week as school resumes after the Labor Day holiday.

Madison High School shows a current enrollment of 520 students compared with 547 at the same time last year. Two hundred and fifty students are attending the Junior High School this year, while 296 attended upon opening of school last year.

Blair School reported an enrollment of 180 this year, compared to 228 students last year.

Louis Baer school has 300 students listed, compared to 189 last year. The increase is due to the fact that students are being phased out of Dunbar School, which has only 48 students in three sixth grade classes attending this year. Last year, there were 147 enrolled in fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Harris school shows 340 students attending this year, with an enrollment last year of 370.

Venice public schools show a decrease of approximately 75 students in preliminary enrollment figures. This year there are 444 students attending Venice Schools, compared to approximately 519 at the same time last year.

The High School reports an enrollment of 130 students, with 127 attending last year.

Venice elementary school shows 314 students attending this year, with approximately 392 students last year.

Fertilizing ground covers

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Horticulture Adviser
Evergreen ground covers that do well in shady locations will benefit from extra fertilizer.

Either fall or early spring fertilizing will produce extra plant performance.

Evergreens such as English ivy, pachysandra, lily turf, and creeping euonymus make their best growth in early fall and again in the spring during cool weather and extra moisture.

Annual fertilizing during either of these periods will increase their seasonal spurt of growth to improve their color tone and stimulate their spread into thin spots or nearby open areas.

Organic fertilizers such as milorganite and dried manure are the safest to use because of their non-burn qualities. Scatter either dried manure or milorganite at 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet on top of the foliage. It isn't necessary to water it in.

If you decide to use lawn fertilizer, use the same rate of application of fertilizer as recommended for grass.

Promptly hand water to rinse the fertilizer off the leaves.

Ground covers like sedums (stonecrop), myrtle, yucca, and others, plantain lily, hen and chickens, lily of the valley, silver mound artemisia, blue leadwort, and barrow strawberry make their major growth during the spring and summer.

Fall fertilizing will have the same beneficial effect but the results will show up better next spring.

Things that make me glad

Everyone has a list of things that make him or her mad. Following are some of the things that make me glad.

Saturday morning cartoons make me happy. I can sleep until noon while my youngsters watch their shows.

Restaurants are a joy. I love to eat Italian food and lobster, and Mexican food, and Armenian pastries. I do not, however, like to cook. Yes, good restaurants make me happy.

Smiling children make me smile. Crying babies stir my motherly instincts and happy teenagers make me sure that the next generation will be okay.

Good books make me world a pleasant place. I love to escape into the lives of the characters in a good novel.

People who create music bring happiness. The joyful sound can soothe the soul. People with a talent for music always interest me.

A cold beer on a hot day is nice.

Cars that run make me glad. New cars smell good. Old cars make me "remember when" and riding in a Rolls makes me feel rich.

People who do their own thing are great. Those who are good at it make me glad for them. People who try are a joy. And independent individuals who make things happen are terrific.

Snowcones and cotton candy make me glad.

Baby animals are neat. Kittens and puppies, tiny birds and baby tigers are cute and always make me smile.

Police, firemen, EMT's and paramedics make me glad. It's nice to know that there are people to help in an emergency.

My babysitter makes me happy. She spoils and mothers my kids when I have to work. She's like a grandma to my little boys.

New clothes make me glad. Pretty, lacy things make me feel very feminine. Jeans make me feel like a human being and suits make me feel very professional. They say clothes make the man, but they also do a lot for a woman.

Everyone who has ever read this column makes me glad. Without you, there would be no column and nowhere for me to tell about all of the things that make me glad.

And that wouldn't make me glad.

Photography class at 'Y'

To meet mayors on sewer fee problem

A meeting with the mayors of communities served by the Metro-East Lansdowne sewer treatment plant will be called within the next week to study the problem of delinquent pollution treatment fees owed by thousands of homeowners and businesses using the sewer system.

Decision to meet with the mayors was reached in a special meeting of the sanitary district board of trustees Friday when a schedule was to be worked out for disconnecting sewer lines at places where owners cannot pay delinquent sewer fees.

Cleophus Carr, district manager, said today that the district will go ahead with plans to disconnect the sewers in instances where large amounts of delinquent fees have accumulated. Carr said some bills are as high as $14,000, particularly those of landowners who are responsible for sewer service to their properties.

No date for starting the shutoffs has been decided, pending preparation of a schedule by James Spanos, district engineer, Carr said.

Faces weapon charges

Kenneth Ray Darnell, 44, House Springs, Mo., was arrested by Venice police at 11:15 p.m. Saturday and was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and failure to have a firearm owner's identification card.

Orville C. Clifton, 28, of the 200 block of Broadway in Venice, told police he was visiting a friend in the 100 block of Kerr Street when a man pointed a gun at him and then left in a pickup truck.

Venice police stopped a truck matching that description on Route 3 at Short Street minutes later and alleged finding a loaded rifle on the floorboard and an ammunition clip on the seat.

Darnell was arrested and was released on $200 cash bond.

ferences, and in any event was not acceptable.

Teachers viewed the proposal as non-specific and dependent upon additional concessions by teachers before it took on any, even vague, meaning. "Any proposal of that type is little more than 'make believe bargaining' and does nothing to move the parties off center or to resolve a community problem."

"If the School Board wishes to make some additional formal, specific proposal to teachers beyond its previous rejection of arbitration, then teachers will be happy to consider it."

"In all honesty, however, proposals of the kind the Board made this week which call for the teachers to negotiate against their previous positions to which the Board has not responded, are unrealistic, and this does nothing to resolve the issues. It just wastes the time of all involved, and serves neither the best interests of the parties nor the community."

"Should the Board notify teachers of its intention to resume meaningful negotiations the teachers will appear and respond," the letter from the Local 743 president concluded.

After a Board of Education meeting from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, the board sent a letter, signed by Secretary George Moore.

Addressing Shirley Stoll, president of Local 743, the board said, "The desire of the board continues to be meaningful negotiations between the parties."

"The board recognizes, however, that the parties are now having a problem of talking to each other. They cannot seem to agree even upon how to proceed."

"Accordingly, the School Board formally proposes that both parties jointly request the services and assistance of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service."

"It has the proven ability to get parties together, to start them talking to each other again, and to obtain meaningful negotiations. This is what the board wants."

Horseshoe fish kill

A fish kill involving many thousands of dead fish was reported in Horseshoe Lake Sunday and Monday by landowner William Nichols. The state Department of Conservation has agreed to send a biologist to the lake today to conduct tests and determine the cause before the kill extends to the better game fish in the lake.

Nichols said the kill is not as bad as the one this spring in which many game fish were killed, but said the dead fish are covering much of the shoreline, particularly along the north side of the lake and are causing a bad odor.

He contended the heaviest concentration of the dead fish seem to be around the area where the Nameoki Drainage Ditch empties into the lake.

Remodeling of campus buildings

Repairs and construction at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville costing $3.8 million were approved by Governor James Thompson Thursday. The funds were part of $183 million a new projects statewide contained in legislation acted on by the governor Thursday.

The SIUE projects funded include repair work on core buildings, renovation of the second floor of the University Center, and new athletic and recreation facilities.

Approved was $330,000 repair of the Communications and Science buildings' roofs, which have been springing leaks in recent years.

Capital Development Board funds of $635,000 were authorized for repair of sewer work on all the original central campus buildings. The money is to repair severe cracking in building exterior walls and to replace brick facings that have loosened or fallen.

Modifications, such as higher railings on stairwells and other changes to meet safety standards and provide more access to handicapped persons, will be financed through $280,000 in CDB funds for Classroom Buildings II and III, the newest facilities on the campus.

Also listed is $301,500 for "rehabilitating the Broadview Building, which houses the East St. Louis Center of SIU."

The governor approved spending $2,275,000 from the SIU Income Fund (student fees) for capital projects under legislation sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadalabene.

The largest appropriation from that fund is $1.1 million for the renovation of the second floor of the University Center.

Work will include subdividing the former School of Business area for the expanded conference facilities; new student offices; relocation of the center business offices; expansion of the student publications area; a new art gallery, and a new food service area for the expanded conference facilities.

Also approved was $350,000 to construct a small theater facility, probably to be located adjacent to the Communications Building.

The new building will replace the temporary "Quonset Hut" that has been used for theater productions designed for small audiences.

A $150,000 music performance shell to be used for outdoor music performances at a location near the central campus core was approved from student funds.

A variety of improvements costing $321,000 for recreation facilities also was approved.

New lighting of campus walkways to increase safety, a new core campus marquee to announce events, and outdoor artworks such as statues and sculptures.

Also approved was $254,000 for new athletic facilities, concession stands, storage areas and improvements to the varsity track.

A $100,000 appropriation for expanded recreational equipment and facilities at the Alton Dental School and the East St. Louis Center was approved from student funds.

Families hosting foreign students

With the beginning of classes just around the corner, people within commuting distance of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are needed to act as host families for international students arriving from around the world.

"People have the opportunity to reach out and touch someone from an exciting and different culture," according to Zahir Ahmed, foreign student adviser at SIUE.

"While helping students get used to the American way of doing things, host families will gain in knowledge and appreciation of other countries," he said. Ahmed said the university expects to welcome 35 or 40 new international students to the local campus this fall, joining the more than 200 students from other countries already enrolled in SIUE programs and classes. The new students come from diverse cultures around the world, including countries in Africa, Asia, South America and Europe, as well as Canada and Mexico.

"The students bring with them the rich cultures of their countries which they are eager to share as they are learning about the United States," he said.

The relationship is a two-way street. While members of the host family may think they are just helping an international student, they discover they get a lot in exchange, Ahmed said.

The host family provides the ties that are usually maintained between the student and his real family back home.

The hosts supply the familial needs during times of stress and crisis when encouragement is needed, at holiday and festival times when members of the family are most likely to congregate; during illness, at all other times when discouragement and homesickness strike.

Host families work through the International Hospitality Program, a volunteer program made up of community residents who help watch over the international students attending SIUE. John and Joyce Schrader of Granite City are serving as this year's "president."

The relationship between the family and the student may be whatever they choose.

"The student may be included in many of the family plans or meet with them only on certain occasions," Ahmed said.

There are no commitments. If a family tries it and it doesn't work out, the family can drop out whenever it likes, the foreign student adviser said.

However, people who have become host families usually find it a delightful experience, he added. The effects are far-reaching.

"Those who have the opportunity to travel abroad after they have served as host families, may suddenly discover they have a whole set of new friends wanting to meet them," Ahmed said.

Those unable to serve as host families may help by donating furniture or household items to the "loan closet."

The loan closet is a collection of household furniture and goods donated for the use of married and single international students who live away from the main campus.

"A number of students get off-campus housing which is mostly unfurnished," Ahmed said. "Since most students who come here to school don't have transportation, they can't go out and shop for all the things they need," he said.

The furniture is passed along until it is worn out. "Graduating students pass items along to other students who may use it another four years," Ahmed said.

Anyone wishing to become a host family may learn more about the program by contacting Reba Klenke at 656-5022 or Delores Weigand at 462-0833.

Those wishing to contribute to the loan closet may do so by contacting Nancy Gregory at 656-8211.

BPW Hears Social Security speaker

Sheila Jackson of the Federal Supplemental Income Office, East St. Louis, was guest speaker at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's August dinner meeting.

Mrs. Jackson recently was appointed Federal Women's Program representative for East St. Louis.

In her remarks, Mrs. Jackson dispelled some common myths regarding Social Security as it affects women and gave highlights of proposed changes in the Social Security laws.

Wilma Large was dinner chairman and introduced the guest speaker.

The event was held at Roustio's Restaurant in Collinsville, where it was agreed to hold the next dinner meeting Sept. 19.

Mrs. LaVelle Stephens, president, was in charge of the business discussions, with members reviewing and approving changes in club policies.

Family budget techniques told

By JINNY TUETKEN

Debt is at an all-time high. Americans are accountable for $1 trillion in house mortgages alone.

We own more than 60 million credit cards. And 23 cents out of every dollar we own goes toward debt payment. So how do we learn to stay within a budget?

Frank McGinnis, St. Elizabeth Medical Center controller, cited these facts and told his medical center associates that planning is the only way to stay within a budget.

He spoke to the associates at an in-service meeting on personal financing. It was the second in a series of special "take-home training sessions" offered by the center, called Spotlight In-services.

At energy itemized deductions from an average paycheck and told how misguided people can be in budgeting on their contracted salary.

If a person is told he will receive $3 per hour, full-time, the salary is more than $10,000 per year. But many of us forget to estimate payroll deductions like federal and state taxes and Social Security when we set up our budgets.

Once the actual income is arrived at, a person can begin to operate within a budget, but the key word to budgeting is planning, he added.

He encouraged them to plan their budget by the month and determine how much actual income is flowing into the household. "Pay yourself first," he said.

Services for

A. S. Tchoukaleff

Services were held Friday morning at an Alton funeral home for Anastas S. Tchoukaleff, 74, of Alton, the father of a Granite City resident.

Mr. Tchoukaleff died Aug. 28 at his home.

He and his wife, the former Rina Jaleff of Granite City, who survives, were married June 30, 1935, at Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church in Madison.

Prior to retiring in 1974, Mr. Tchoukaleff was in partnership for 32 years with a brother, Theodore, in the Shamrock Restaurant, East Alton.

He was born in Resin, Macedonia, the son of the late Sotir and Vasilika (Linova) Tchoukaleff.

Mr. Tchoukaleff was a member of Holy Trinity Church here.

In addition to his wife, also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Pasfeca of Granite City and Mrs. Anita Merry of San Dimas, Calif.; a son, Paul S. Tchoukaleff of St. Louis; three brothers, Boris of Macedonia, Nick of Detroit, Mich., and Theodore of East Alton; a sister, Eudorka Gligorova of Toronto, Canada; and 10 grandchildren.

Burial was in the Upper Alton Cemetery.

The Rev. Peter Stamboliev of Holy Trinity Church officiated at the service.

said. This is done by putting aside money for savings.

He emphasized this point by explaining three ways the medical center offers payroll savings: bank savings, credit union savings, and the tax shelter annuity plan, for non-profit agencies only.

TSA is a program used by some of the associated (employees) to place them in a lower tax bracket.

Associates commit a certain amount of their annual income to the savings program. It is set aside in a special account which draws eight percent interest.

If an associate commits a certain amount of his or her income to the TSA, he or she is only taxed by the IRS on the remainder, thus making his taxable dollars lower.

He is not taxed on the interest he earns as the money remains in the account. If it is withdrawn, then taxes must be paid on the money and the interest.

McGinnis also said people can cut down on extra expenses if they watch where their money goes.

"If you keep track daily on what you spend, you'll find you spend foolishly," he remarked.

With the survey, the next step is to begin making changes in and sacrifices in personal luxuries.

An energy savings tips booklet accompanied McGinnis' talk to help associates stay aware of how they were electricity and spend extra dollars on utility bills.

The spotlight in-services are interest free take-home services associates. They are offered at various times during the year.

BUDGET PLANNING techniques are explained to St. Elizabeth Medical Center employees by SEMC Controller Frank McGinnis.

Roos speaker for Chamber's annual dinner

The 39th annual meeting of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

Plans include a gourmet dinner, installation of new officers and board members for the coming year, and an informational address by Lawrence K. Roos, president of the Federal Reserve Bank for this district.

Roos will discuss inflation, services rates, and the ever-increasing cost of living.

Book for parents by GC teacher

Sterling J. Schoen has just completed an anthology for parents, "Please Love Them." The publisher is Dorrance & Company, Ardmore, Pa.

This anthology is being described as an especially fitting publication for 1979, which has been designated by the United Nations as the International Year of the Child.

Schoen has collected a potpourri of poems, paragraphs and Scriptural quotations intended to speak to all who love and care about children and teenagers.

Schoen and his wife, Edwina, are teachers in the Granite City public school system. He also devotes time as a camp counselor, youth director, and director of music at the First Baptist Church of Alhambra.

Coins, stamps, crafts Sunday

A flea market, combined with coins, stamps and different crafts, will take place Sunday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues.

The event will be sponsored by members of the Land of Lincoln Coin Club. The public is invited to attend without charge.

'Fun Day' Chouteau under way

An "Old Fashioned Country Picnic and Fun Day" for senior citizens in the Granite City Park District is under way until 10 p.m. today at the ice rink pavilion in Wilson Park.

A variety of activities has been offered throughout the day and a picnic supper was to be held from 4:30 to 6:30 this evening with participants asked to bring their own sack lunches.

Dancing to live music was scheduled from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Granite City Township, the park district and senior citizens' groups combined to organize the event.

Sentenced in shooting case

Richard Lee Willis, 33, Wichita, Kan., has been sentenced by Associate Judge Clayton R. Williams to serve 60 days in the Madison County Jail after Willis pleaded guilty to unlawful use of a weapon.

He first was charged with aggravated battery from an incident Nov. 13, 1978, in which James Hubbard, 49, was shot in the face with a shotgun in Hubbard's apartment in the 1300 block of Madison Avenue in Madison.

Hubbard suffered injuries to his face and an ear, but is recuperating. Madison police went to Wichita in May to get Willis and return him here.

Judge Williams agreed to reduce the charge from aggravated battery to unlawful use of a weapon.

Faces four charges

Gilbert Agee, 24, of 1832 State St., Apt. 4, was charged with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and two counts of battery on state complaints signed after a disturbance in his apartment building at 2:50 p.m. Thursday.

Police were called to the building and were told by Ben Moore, Apt. 2, that he had been checking another apartment for a friend and had entered it with a key the friend gave him. Agee allegedly told Moore he had no business in the apartment and slapped Moore, police were told. When officers attempted to apprehend Agee, he allegedly struggled and kicked Sgt. Dennis Chenuit and Patrolman Kenneth Crawford. Force had to be used to subdue and handcuff him, police alleged.

G. K. Johannigmeier dies

George K. Johannigmeier, 69, of 1542 Lindell Blvd., died at 12:43 p.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was a patient 13 days. He had been ill about two weeks.

Mr. Johannigmeier was a lifelong resident of Granite City and retired in 1964 from Granite City Steel where he was a line operator for 40 years. He was a veteran of World War II.

Mr. Johannigmeier was a member of St. John United Church of Christ, VFW Post 1300 and a Masonic lodge.

His wife, Mrs. Rosalia Johannigmeier, preceded him in death May 14, 1978. Surviving are two sons, Gary and George Johannigmeier, both of Granite City; a daughter, Karen Johannigmeier of Chicago; a son-in-law, Roger Gloek of Chicago; and a grandchild, Arthur and Lester "Cotton" Johannigmeier, both of Granite City, and a sister, Mrs. Fred (Alma) Romann of Granite City. Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

Slight drop in enrollment at university

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville enrollment may total 10,200 this fall despite a slight increase in the number of new freshmen.

Factors in the anticipated 400 decrease are fewer war veterans, less upper-financial returning due to stricter academic standards started last year, and a $16 tuition increase to $189 a semester, plus higher gasoline costs and other impacts of inflation.

Although originally there were forecasts of an enrollment of 10,800 by now, a peak of 13,700 was reached at SIUE in 1970. Colleges are expected to begin experiencing the effect of smaller high school graduating classes in the early 1980s.

Financial aid was extended to 53 percent of SIUE students in 1978 and the proportion is expected to grow with a new middle-income assistance program.

Bernard Wickman, 83, dies

Bernard R. Wickman, 83, of 2809 E. 25th st., died at 2:15 p.m. Thursday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he had been a patient one week. He had been ill three years.

Mr. Wickman was born in Bartlesville, Ill., and resided in Granite City 60 years. He was retired from the Granite City Army Depot. He was active in St. Margaret-Mary Catholic Church and was a member of the American Legion.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Rose Wickman, four sons, Richard and James Wickman of Granite City, Ralph Wickman of Tucson, Ariz., and Robert Wickman of Minneapolis, Minn., a daughter, Mrs. Helen Carmody of Granite City; two brothers, John Wickman of Granite City and Frank Wickman of Jennings, Mo.; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

Heavy safe among loot in burglary

A safe containing $1,120 and a large amount of jewelry was among the loot discovered missing after a burglary at the home of John Besserman, 2445 Center St., between noon Saturday and 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Also taken were three shotguns, two rifles, a handgun, a silver tea set and a police scanner radio. Besserman said the safe weighed 107 pounds. Entry to the home was gained by breaking a window.

Assault charged; 2 persons cut

Fred Cross, 48, St. Louis, was charged with assault by Madison police following his arrest at 4:30 p.m. Thursday because of an incident in which two persons suffered knife cuts to their hands.

Officers said they were told that Cross became involved in an argument with his brother, James Cross, at the home of their mother at 905 Jefferson St., Madison, over washing the dinner dishes.

Police alleged Fred Cross picked up a knife and cut James Cross on the thumb of his right hand. Jean Snider, mother of the two men, intervened in the argument and Fred Cross cut her on the right hand, police said. Cross was released on $35 cash bond to appear for a hearing Sept. 28 in Granite City court.

Cyclist injured

Mark J. Wilson, 16, of 2920 Faith Ave., was injured when his motorcycle struck the rear of the car of Sandra Murray, 3806 Kirkpatrick Homes, on Edwards Street at Ridgedale Avenue at 11:40 p.m. Friday.

The driver of the east-bound car said she had stopped to make a left turn when the cycle struck the rear of the auto.

Wilson was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for pain to his right leg and thigh. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Mrs. Barfield dies at 48

Mrs. Armie E. (Sykes) Barfield, 48, died at 11:10 a.m. Sunday at Oliver Anderson Hospital, Maryville. A patient there one day, she had been ill for three years.

Mrs. Barfield was born here and was a lifetime resident of Granite City until moving to Glen Carbon less than a month ago. Her address there was 143 Francis St.

She was Protestant and was a homemaker.

Survivors are her husband, George W. F. Barfield; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Diana) Horvath of Glen Carbon and Mrs. Adron (Pamela) Cahill of Granite City; a brother, Muriel Sykes of Collinsville; four sisters, Mrs. Colvin (Alphie) McDaniel of Clara, Utah, Miss Verlyan Byrd and Mrs. James (Ada) Borth, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Leonard (Reba) Monroe of Glen Carbon; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert (Flora) Sykes of Granite City; and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

GUN DISPLAYED
Edward Pelikan, Edwardsville, told police at 12:05 a.m. Saturday that the driver of an orange 1999 Plymouth Roadrunner pointed a gun at him while his car was beside the orange car on Nameki Road at Leonard Avenue and threatened him. There were two men and a woman in the car, Pelikan said. The victim made a U-turn and reported he incident to a policeman at the Burger King.

Growing support

"I am asking the people of Illinois, especially those whose livelihood is significantly affected by the river traffic, to write to their elected officials in Washington, emphasizing just how important completion of this project is to the manufacturers and the agricultural producers of the Midwest."

Rebuilding

The support and activity of our affiliates, their officers and members will insure the continued progress that was made under the leadership of Presidents Ruchon G. Soderstrom and Stanley L. Johnson of our generation and those who preceded them since the state labor movement was formally established in 1884.

Labor organizations deal with problems of people. There is always unfinished business for the trade union movement.

Today, we see our nation preparing for the 1980s with costly, excessive inflation and predictions of recession and additional unemployment.

We cannot continue on the economic course suggested by some "experts" who see increased unemployment as statistics rather than as hardship on families and as discouragement to youthful men and women barred from careers by "no help wanted" signs.

Anyone who moves through the inner cities, the aging rural areas and just about anywhere else in our state learns that there is a long agenda of vital tasks that need attention: decent housing for many Americans without adequate shelter, safe, efficient and economical mass transit, rebuilding of the cities, and making present structures more energy-efficient.

There is much more, including a system of national health insurance that make medical care available to all at costs which will not bankrupt the state.

These are examples of major projects for the 1980s. The benefits to American society would be enormous in creating jobs, adding to productivity, reducing inflation and improving the quality of life.

In Illinois, organized labor did its share of work on these issues and others. The political climate prevailing put labor on the defensive. There were legislative successes and failures.

We are still one of the few industrial states without a law providing the right to collective bargaining for public employees.

"This will always be one of our top priorities until we bring Illinois into the 20th Century with respect to relations between public agencies and the people who keep them going."

We are going to bring the state's minimum wage law in conformity with the federal statute, which means that in Illinois the base pay is 60 cents an hour lower than that established by federal legislation.

Labor was successful in our efforts to defeat seven so-called "right-to-work" proposals introduced in the General Assembly. Proponents of this legislation have one objective: to weaken unions so employers can cut wages, benefits and destroy hard-won working conditions.

Labor was able to defeat attempts to repeal protective legislation. These successes are somewhat hollow, but 1979 was the king for a year. Both in state and federal legislative halls, we seem to measure our progress by simply defeating negative proposals.

The complete legislative report will be presented to the 22nd convention of the Illinois State AFL-CIO which opens on Sept. 24, 1979, in Springfield.

As usual, the delegates will introduce resolutions which look forward to gains for working people in every phase of their lives; on the job, and in the community.

The convention which will be developed by the positive, for the mission of organized labor is to advance the quality of life for all who look to us for leadership.

In unity, we will have the strength and wisdom to move the resolutions from the printed page into practical accomplishment for the men, women and families we have the privilege to represent.

That is the challenge we eagerly accept.

Collide at 25th, Madison

Carol Tartt, 28, of 2139 Monroe Ave., was injured in an auto accident at 25th Street and Madison Avenue at 4:05 p.m. Saturday and was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where she was admitted.

Her auto entered Madison Avenue from 25th Street where it collided with the northbound auto of John A. Glen Carbon, police were told.

Trees in the front yard at the home of James Kostoff, 2500 Madison Ave., and the parked cars of Chuncha Kim, 2501 Iowa St., and Jung Jun, Chahokia, also were struck and damaged during the mishap.

Carol Tartt suffered multiple small cuts to her back and neck with glass imbedded in her back, authorities said.

Bullet train

a Phase II development study is nearing completion at present, and funds have been appropriated to commence engineering and environmental impact work.

Under the proposed compact, the other participating states would undertake similar studies of their own and then pool the results with the twin objectives of establishing an integrated system which also interfaces with other existing transportation systems.

There would be a unified regional lobby in Washington, D.C., in support of federal financial participation similar to that already established for high-speed rail passenger service in the "northeast corridor" from Boston to New York and Washington, D.C.

After extensive discussion, the Illinois commission voted to formally undertake a study of the potential of this proposal, which could lead to introduction of legislation ratifying the compact in the Illinois General Assembly as early as next January.

However, as a part of this process, Vadalabene and Mrs. Stiehl were successful in persuading the commission that inclusion of the St. Louis metropolitan area (particularly as regards a Chicago-St. Louis link of the system) should be an integral part of the commission's deliberations.

The staff of the commission was directed to contact government officials in the local area and Missouri for purposes of opening further discussions of the potential of bringing a high-speed rail corridor to the St. Louis area.

While acknowledging that it would be several years before implementation of plans could actually begin, both Sen. Vadalabene and Rep. Stiehl emphasized that "our long-term energy outlook makes it critically important that we immediately begin to seriously examine transportation options, such as high-speed rail passenger service."

"It has clearly demonstrated in other parts of the world that it can offer a viable alternative to other passenger transportation modes as regards short-to-medium range inter-city movements if properly instituted."

In addition, they noted that an electrified system, possibly using Illinois coal to generate power, "makes this approach particularly attractive."

until 11 a.m. on Thursday, then taken to St. Louis under the area mail processing system and be delivered on Friday.

Should a person want to Granite City postmark on his letter, the letter must be taken to the main post office, put in the mail slot in the lobby marked for Granite City postmark.

The letter will then be postmarked Granite City and sent to St. Louis for processing and then sent to where it is addressed, perhaps back to Granite City. There is no one working at the main post office after 7 p.m. now. The last man on duty makes a 6:15 p.m. pick up of mail from the post office boxes immediately around the post office, puts the mail in pouches and it is picked up for delivery to St. Louis.

Mail placed in the box in front of the Madison post office, marked Madison only, will remain in Madison for delivery. Local mail may be deposited in the Madison post office slot in the lobby marked Madison only as late as 7:30 a.m. and be delivered the same day.

Mail in all other Madison locations is taken to St. Louis for processing.

Venice postal workers separate the mail from the box outside the post office and hold the Venice mail for local delivery. A local letter may be mailed at the Venice post office as late as 8 a.m. and be delivered in Venice the same day, according to the Venice postmaster.

position in the Mount Vernon district. The present term expires in November, when Harrison is expected to seek a ten-year elective term.

Moran was described Friday by his successor as an "outstanding jurist." Harrison said the appointment to succeed Moran is a "great compliment."

Moran, 66, a Granite Cityan until moving to Glen Carbon in 1978, began private law practice here in 1969, resuming it after World War II Navy service, and was elected to the appellate court bench in 1964.

Harrison, the new appellate judge, attended Collinsville schools and earned a bachelor degree, from Colorado College, majoring in political science. His law degree was obtained from Washington University in 1958. He maintained a law office in Collinsville for 15 years until being appointed as a circuit judge replacing the late James O. Monroe Jr. Harrison was elected as a circuit judge in 1974. He is married and has two children.

His grandfather, Dr. M. W. Harrison, was a pioneer physician in Collinsville and was mayor for many years. His father, Dr. Clarence Harrison, retired after a longtime dental practice.

For the children . . . with love from Helen

Her sewing machine stands in the kitchen of the big, rambling house out on Rural Route One. It is always open and ready for her to work on her quilts and toys.

Helen Pfeiffer works every day, but it is a labor of love. Mrs. Pfeiffer is 75 years young. She makes quilts and afghans and toys for children. Recently she began what she hopes will be an ongoing thing, making quilts for the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

She learned to quilt over 50 years ago. Her aunt taught her the old craft when she was a young mother. With seven children and her in-laws to see to, there was great need for her beautiful quilts.

Through the years, Mrs. Pfeiffer kept the family beds colorfully made up with her handwork. When she had grandchildren, each was presented with gifts made by her own hand. She began to make toys as well.

Then, about two years ago, Mrs. Pfeiffer visited the Shriners' Hospital. She saw some of the quilts that had been hand-made and donated to the hospital for the youngsters, and decided to make some for them herself.

These days, between her family, the Guild at St. John United Church of Christ, where she quilts for herself and church bazaars, and tending her flowers, Mrs. Pfeiffer is busy but still makes quilts for the small patients.

Michael Macek and Ken Anderson, both members of the Ainal Shrine, last week accepted three more quilts from Mrs. Pfeiffer.

The quilts were, in their words, a labor of love. And by the look on the lady's face, you could tell that, indeed, they were.

Rail deregulation idea called harmful

By GORDON BILLINGSLEY

Proposals to deregulate railroad transportation in the United States would contribute to inflation, to the foreign trade deficit, and to the energy problem if enacted, a Southern Illinois University at Carbondale economist says.

Walter Wills, professor of agribusiness economics, said deregulation of railroads could actually decrease the competition among rail lines and would adversely affect the development of rural America.

Wills, a specialist in transportation and marketing, said the U.S. rail system does not operate under competitive conditions because of the relatively small number of firms in any given area.

And regulations are needed to prevent "the abuses and chaotic conditions that existed before the Interstate Commerce Act of 1887," he contends.

Wills said unregulated railroads would be likely to abandon many rural lines that are essential to the economy of the nation. This also would result in a congestion of rail lines and attendant industrial activities in already congested cities, he said.

He said the deregulation of railroads could boost inflation through higher shipping rates that could then be adopted by rail companies.

And the cost of shipping farm products, a major factor in the cost of food items, likely would rise as rural lines were abandoned or rates were raised, he added.

Abandonment could also wreak financial havoc on communities in which farmers sell their grains to elevators on rail lines. They would have to switch to longer shipping routes by truck, he noted.

In addition to increasing the cost of shipping, deregulation would reduce the energy efficiency of grain transportation, Wills said.

"Studies suggest water and rail require about 680 to 700 British Thermal Units per ton-mile while truck transportation requires about 2,500 to 2,800 BTU," he said.

"An increase in truck traffic for hauling grain and other farm products could be disastrous for many rural roads and bridges."

"The highways in most agricultural states — many state roads, most county roads, and all township roads — cannot even carry the present traffic without high annual maintenance costs. And the condition of these roads has rapidly deteriorated in the past three years."

"Many of the secondary roads and bridges cannot handle the larger trucks that would be needed to haul the increased load if the number of rail lines were reduced."

"In addition, many rural roads are posted so that heavy truck traffic is not permitted for two or more months each year."

"Such transportation problems could hurt the marketing abilities of U.S. farmers and of the entire United States."

Agriculture, Wills pointed out, is one of the few U.S. industries that sells more goods overseas than it buys, contributing to an improved balance of foreign trade.

The current foreign trade deficit could be worsened if the rural transportation system breaks down and farm exports are reduced," he related.

Fluctuations in rail rates also could come with deregulation of the industry, Wills said; that could force grain elevators and dealers to pay farmers less for grain because of reduced accuracy in determining shipping costs over a period of time.

Homestead Day to feature Georgia Engelke's book

Included in the more than 50 arts and crafts booths for Homestead Day on Sept. 15 will be an exhibit which will feature Georgia Engelke's book, "Old Six Mile."

The book contains an early history of the Kinder Station and Six Mile Prairie which later evolved into the modern Quad-Cities.

Sponsoring the sale of the publication will be the St. John United Church of Christ.

Junior - High Youth Fellowship.

This church was the former German Christian Independent Church of Six Mile Prairie, organized in 1862. It has served the Quad-Cities for 117 consecutive years.

Copies of the book will sell at $3 each. Mrs. Engelke will be on hand to autograph the books.

Phone pioneers aiding many

In school it is show and tell, but at a late-August meeting of the Madison-Venice Rotary it was "bring and brag."

The bragging was about a little-known volunteer group known as Telephone Pioneers.

The bringing was a partial collection of the items telephone pioneers have invented and made available free of charge to handicapped persons.

There are today over 520,000 telephone pioneers giving of their time to aid the handicapped.

Kenneth Evers, manager of the Granite City area of Illinois Bell and a member of the Pioneers, is shown speaking to the club about some of the items. First vice-president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, he is a past president of the statewide phone pioneer group.

At the left Evers demonstrates "Vis-Com," referred to as "New ears for the deaf." It is used on touch tone phones and is a visual communications device that is deceptive in its appearance.

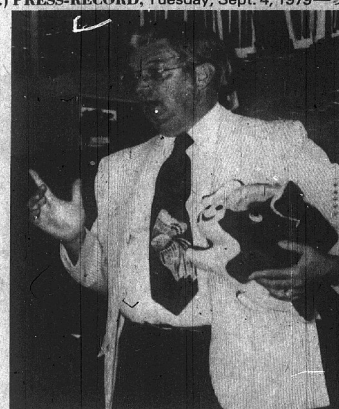

The face of the box is the replica of a touch lone phone with lights and corresponding letters; the message is simply tapped out on a touch lone phone.

At the right Evers holds "Pioneer Pig" which is used in helping deaf children speak. The eyes light up when the child makes a sound. The deaf child knows he is making a sound as the "toy" responds.

In the lower right picture, Evers holds a "cricket" which emits a beeping sound. The signal allows a blind person to follow another person on a bicycle, walking, and even bowling; the individual rolls the ball in the direction of the sound.

At lower left are items in the display, including songbooks in large print, lap robes for senior citizens, and a ball that emits a sound so that blind persons can play a ball game, swinging and catching while guided by the sound of the continuous "beep beep."

Nameeki repays town borrowing

Nameeki Township's town accounts are "in the black" due to recent taxes received from the township's tax collector, Supervisor Harold Davis has reported, but the highway department remains $25,000 in debt.

Davis told the town board at its last meeting that new taxes have made it possible to repay the last anticipation warrant for the town fund. However, $25,000 in anticipation warrants are outstanding for the road and bridge fund, he explained.

Bills approved for payment by the town board at the meeting included $24,518 from the town fund, $24,929 in revenue sharing, $16,441 in the road and bridge fund, $3,728 from the special hard road fund and $6,392 from general assistance funds.

Davis reported the township's application for community development funds for the 1979-80 fiscal year has been accepted by the community development office in Edwardsville. The township is seeking $79,900 for rehabilitation programs in Eagle Park Acres, $2,700 for clearing land, and $36,000 for public facilities, including drainage, street improvements and neighborhood facilities.

Louis Whitsell, chairman of the Madison County special sewer committee, told township residents at the meeting that there seems to be quite a bit of misunderstanding about who is responsible for repairing damages caused during the construction of new sanitary sewers in Nameeki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

He said the sewer committee has a regular complaint form given to anyone objecting about damage caused by the sewer construction and the contractor is responsible for repairing all damages. Copies of the complaint form are available at the township office, Whitsell said.

He explained the county is paying only for the materials and labor for the sewers. The contractor must pay for any damages done.

He said some of the employees on the sewer program have been negligent, without the knowledge of the contractor. One worker asked a Pontoon Beach man if he could plug a temporary pump into the man's home electrical outlet and received permission.

The employee then walked over the top of the man's car to plug the pump in, denting the car.

"At the end of the sewer project, we will have withheld some of the funds from the contractor and he will not get those funds until we are satisfied he has done what he is supposed to do," Whitsell concluded.

The board's next meeting will be Sept. 10 in the Nameeki Town Hall, 4250 Highway 162, beginning at 7 p.m.

PROUD MOMENT. A Candy Stripper receives a 1979 service award from Sister Mary

Thomas (right) president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Honor Candy Stripers

Awards were presented to 69 junior volunteers at the annual Candy Stripper banquet held at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The annual banquet, held to honor the youths and to express appreciation for the work the young volunteers perform for the hospital, was sponsored by SEMC.

This year's program began with an invocation by the Rev. James Wasser, followed by a buffet dinner. Speakers for the banquet were Sister Mary Thomas, president of the medical center, Patrice Musick, Candy Stripper supervisor, and Barbara Franch, Candy Stripper president.

The award presentation, at which each junior volunteer received honors for the number of hours worked, was conducted by Candy Stripper Supervisor Pat Musick and Sister Mary Thomas.

Receiving awards for 1,000 hours of service were Rita Baker and Agatha Grabowski. Other recipients were:

800 hours, Diane Portell.
700 hours, Kim Bowers.
500 hours, Ann Cravens and Barbara Franch.
400 hours, Daphne Hawkins, Julie Johnson and Gay Wright.

300 hours, Veta Price.
200 hours, Joann Bisto, Sheila Legate, Monica McAmish, Donna Oestrick, Todd Perrigan, Teri Robertson, Rhonda Rea, Carol Scaturro and Diane Siler.

100 / hours, Susan Alexander, Kim Coleman, Dana Fanning, Mary Holder, Nancy Smith, Nikki Smith, Rhonda Williams and Dolores Straubinger.
50 hours, Linda Bauer, Lola Burton, Ann Corbett, Lisa Douglas and Donna Hedrick.

Candy Stripers who received certificates were Kathy Belloff, Teresa

Give her summer away

When you are a teenager, summer vacation means swimming, boating, relaxing and no school. It also means three months of your very own.

But Monica McAmish, a freshman at Granite City High School South, gave her summer away. She gave it to the sick and the handicapped by volunteering her time as a Candy Stripper and a swimming instructor.

Monica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McAmish of the 3300 block of Colgate Place, is a volunteer. During the school year and summer, she volunteers her time at St. Elizabeth Medical Center as a Candy Stripper.

In the summertime, she also volunteers her mornings to handicapped people in the area, as a swimming instructor, through the American Red Cross. She became interested in the handicapped swimming instruction program through her mother, Pat, who started instructing five years ago.

Monica has been a volunteer "because it was something I always wanted to do," she said.

Since Monica heard so much about it at home, she took the required advanced swimming lessons and began teaching with her mother.

All aspects of the swimming program are volunteer. Someone volunteers a pool, and the instructors and guards volunteer their time. Mrs. McAmish and Monica taught lessons this summer with about 15 other instructors at the Bowler residence on Mockingbird Lane.

Class sizes were limited, as more individualized instruction must be given to the handicapped. There is usually one instructor for every two students, and one-to-one instruction whenever possible.

Monica works with people of all ages. She has 16-year-olds down to six-year-olds. She also teaches classes to adult stroke victims who were swimmers before their strokes.

Each student has different stages of development, said Monica. "For some, the big step is just getting into the water," while for others it may take weeks before they will get their hair wet.

Handicapped students are better able to identify with their classmates because everyone has some form of handicap, she says. One of the instructors also is handicapped. The students build their confidence by helping and watching each other in their efforts.

Mrs. McAmish said confidence building is a vital part of the Red Cross program. "A lot of times, it's just getting them to use their best abilities, and helping them work with what they have," she said.

MONICA McAMISH gives a few tips on a summer morning to one of her swimming students, JoAnne Mathis, and later that day helps with some of the office work at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Teaching handicapped people to swim requires more individual attention than teaching people without handicaps. But the hard work that volunteers like Monica and her mother put in pays off when a student learns to overcome his fears. And it is helping Monica prepare for a career in structing the deaf. For Monica, the best part of the work is that it helps her meet a lot of new friends."

Warn of county jailer shortage

A manpower crisis is developing at the Madison County Jail, the County Board's Finance Committee was told Thursday by Major Edwin Knezevich, director of administration of the sheriff department.

Noting a Sept. 28 deadline for dismissal of CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) workers who have been employed for 18 months, he urged that the county provide $26,000 for salaries of six jailers between now and the end of the year. "We're sitting on a time bomb at the jail unless we have an adequate number of personnel," Knezevich said.

With some jobs not filled earlier in the year, enough money has been saved to hire four of the ten jailers scheduled to be terminated by the U. S., he added.

No formal action was taken by the committee.

Arrest 7 in fight

Seven young men were arrested after a fight in the street at East 27th and Ralph streets at 3 a.m. Sunday which involved baseball bats and one rifle.

Officers recovered three bats and the rifle after those involved in the fight dropped their weapons when they saw the police car arriving. It was reported.

All of those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct and were released on $35 bond each.

Charged were James R. Daugherty, 26, and George C. Meade, 25, both of 2025 Northridge, Donald N. Cowley, 21, of 2510 E. 28th St., Christopher J. Prithard, 21, of 2404 Cardinal Ave., Richard A. Stemmer, 24, and Edward C. Keel, 25, both of 1209 Rhodes St., and Bruce A. Burnett, 25, of 2230 Dewey Ave.

Smoke damage at church

A fire at the First United Methodist Church of Madison at 12:50 p.m. Sunday that is believed to have started in the study, caused extensive smoke damage, according to a fire department spokesman.

Cause of the fire is unknown. According to the spokesman, the fire started in a corner and a set of curtains burned quickly. Firemen could not make an estimate of the damage.

Three pumps and the emergency truck, plus about 15 Madison firemen responded to the call and were at the scene about an hour and a half.

Faces 3 charges after accident

Timothy R. Peck, 20, Glen Carbon, was charged with reckless driving, violating a stop sign and illegal transportation of alcohol after his car and the auto of Dr. Maria Bauer, 62, of 3314 Princeton Drive, collided at 13th Street and Edwardsville Road at 10 p.m. Friday.

Witnesses alleged Peck's car was eastbound on 13th Street at a high rate of speed, violated the stop sign and entered Edwardsville Road where it collided with Dr. Bauer's northbound car.

After the collision, Peck's car continued across the roadway and struck a utility pole, a stop sign and a no-parking sign. The trunk of the auto came open and the spare tire flew out and struck a parked car at the Sport Tune Service garage, witnesses said.

Police alleged finding open beer in Peck's auto. Both drivers were injured, but declined to be taken to the medical center.

ARRESTED SUNDAY

Leslie W. Thompson, 31, of 1908 Rhodes St., was charged with reckless driving and with two counts of contributing to the delinquency of a minor after police alleged seeing his car weaving southbound in the northbound lanes of Madison Avenue near 17th Street at 1:05 a.m. Sunday. When the auto was stopped, two 16-year-old girls in the car were charged with a curfew violation. One girl also was served with an outstanding warrant for failure to pay a fine from a previous arrest.

Robert Puskar, 55, dies

Robert J. Puskar, 55, of 216 Bond St., East Alton, a native of Granite City, died at 10:15 p.m. Friday at St. Joseph Hospital, Alton.

It is believed Mr. Puskar had been stricken with an apparent heart attack and stroke. Thursday while visiting friends in Brockridge, Texas.

Burglary at Pete & Mary's

Change and some cigarettes are the only things known missing after a burglary at Pete & Mary's Tavern, 2409 Lincoln Ave., between 3 and 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

Police were summoned to the tavern by a burglar alarm and found the rear door had been forced open and interior doors were broken in.

Two cigarette machines were pried open and the coin boxes and some cigarette packs taken.

The cash register and two drawers also were searched. Police found no evidence.

Clark gives probation

Mrs. Grace L. Peterson, 55, of 2131 Ohio Ave., who also used the name Grace Lingle, according to police, has been sentenced by Circuit Judge Harold R. Clark to serve three years of probation after she pleaded guilty to three counts of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

She was among nine persons arrested in April by agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois, culminating in an undercover drug investigation in this area.

The agents alleged Mrs. Peterson sold drugs on Aug. 30 and 31, 1976, and Sept. 15, 1978.

A witness reported seeing a young man, age 16 to 20, who was about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, walking behind the tavern after the alarm sounded. The youth was wearing old jeans and a white tee shirt.

60-DAY JAIL TERM

Richard J. Terrell, 22, of the 800 block of Franklin Avenue in Madison, has been sentenced to serve 60 days in the Madison County Jail, two years of probation and to make restitution after Terrell pleaded guilty to a burglary which occurred May 7. Circuit Judge Harold R. Clark pronounced sentence.

Drowning in canal

Rickey Wayne Tilley, 23, St. Louis, drowned while swimming with friends in the Chain of Rocks Canal about 50 feet north of Locks 27 in Granite City Sunday morning.

His body was recovered by the Alton Volunteer Emergency Corps at 11:10 a.m. Sunday and he was declared dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Ed Werner.

Authorities said Mr. Tilley had been swimming with four friends from St. Louis and Granite City when one of the friends developed a cramp about 7:50 a.m. Sunday. While the others were rescuing the friend, Mr. Tilley went under the water without calling for help, deputies were told.

A friend on the shore saw him disappear and attempted to find him in the water, but was unable to do so.

Authorities said Mr. Tilley was wearing his shoes and trousers when the body was recovered.

His body has been taken to a funeral home in Pocatamos, Ark.

Arrest 2 on roof of gas station

Madison police are holding a 17-year-old Sixth Street boy pending the filing of charges today by the Madison County state's attorney's office in connection with an attempted burglary at the Fina service station at 801 Madison Avenue in Madison at 10:50 p.m. Sunday.

A 16-year-old also faces possible juvenile court charges in connection with the incident.

Officers received a report of a burglary in progress and when police arrived, they heard noises on the roof of the service station. They surrounded the building and ordered whoever was on the roof to come down, but received no reply, they reported.

They then obtained a ladder from the Madison Fire Department and one officer climbed to the roof, where the two surrendered. Police found a screwdriver on the roof which had been used to punch a hole, about one-foot in diameter, through a wall on the roof, it was alleged.

COMMUNITY ACTION PROGRAM — U.A.W. TO WIN PROGRESS FOR PEOPLE

BULLETIN:

WILLARD HERZING—President of U.A.W. Local 1715 and Chairman of Downstate Illinois CAP Political Council, has been selected as a member of the National CAP Political Advisory Council of the United Auto Workers International Union.

Newly selected member Willard Herzing attends National CAP Political Advisory Council Conference in Golden, Colorado, and meets with top UAW Leaders to formulate plans for the coming 1980 elections.

This conference dealing with the UAW-CAP Political structure, its goals and activities, stressed the importance and the need for: Voter Registration, Political Education, Candidate Endorsement, Newsletter Publication, Dollar Drives, Volunteer Recruiting, Getting out the Vote, and Community Activities. With a unanimous vote of approval, a special discussion was held by the Political Advisory Council on the necessity of registering the entire membership of our union, in preparation for the coming 1980 Elections. And to place extra effort to register voters in our community, to set up block captains throughout the community, for the purpose of getting out the vote on Election Day, even make arrangements for baby sitters in order that everyone in the family can vote. We must get people involved in order to turn this country around for a better life for everyone, and to have a better place to raise and school our children, the future leaders of tomorrow.

FROM THE DESK OF WILLARD HERZING

PRESIDENT OF LOCAL 1715 UAW AND CHAIRMAN OF DOWNSTATE ILLINOIS CAP POLITICAL COUNCIL

The United Auto Workers Union is urging everyone to register and vote. Ask your family and friends to do the same. To get this country back on its feet and on the right track, we as citizens MUST get involved.

Politics affects your life and family 24 hours a day — it affects your job, health care, the food on your table, the air you breathe, the taxes you pay . . . all this and more is determined by someone hired . . . by someone appointed . . . by someone you elect . . . GET INVOLVED — REGISTER AND VOTE.

A BETTER TOMORROW

Douglas A. Fraser
UAW President

"As wage earners, breadwinners, parents and human beings, there is no way to separate politics from the paycheck. The prospects for a better contract, prosperity and peace depend on effective political action. There is only one way to separate politics from the rest of your life. Shut your eyes and close your mind to the plain truth."

Walter P. Reuther
Late UAW President

"The American labor movement is involved in politics not as a matter of choice, but as a matter of necessity. We have learned by hard experience that workers cannot protect the gains that they have won at the bargaining table unless they work together as citizens on the political and legislative fronts."

I-270 impact statement endorsed by Gateway

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors last week endorsed a draft environmental impact statement (EIS) for Federal-Aid Interstate Route 270 from Collinsville to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The draft EIS was submitted by the Illinois Department of Transportation and addresses a proposed new roadway which would serve as a connecting link between Interstate Routes 55-70 and 270.

The proposed project would involve the construction, on new right-of-way, of about 5.5 miles of Interstate 270 in Madison County.

The facility, when constructed, would help complete a circumferential freeway for the metropolitan St. Louis area; facilitate flow of north-south traffic in the Illinois area; and alleviate projected congestion on the existing arterial system.

In other actions, the Gateway board:

—Endorsed a community development block grant application for 1978-79 submitted by the City of East St. Louis for $3,755,000 in funds for housing and commercial rehabilitation, street relocation activities, street improvements, community service facilities and other related activities. The project is intended to substantially benefit low and moderate-income families.

—Authorized the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council executive director to enter into a $7,500 sub-contract with Madison County for a project involving the computerization of a vehicle and roadway maintenance system; $6,000 would be pass-through money from State of Illinois Transportation Planning (PL) funds, and $1,500 would be provided as in-kind services from Madison County. The work is a continuation of a project begun during the 1979 program year.

—Endorsed a Missouri State Highway Department application for improvements to Missouri Route 367, 0.6 mile north of Route 67 (North Lindbergh Boulevard) to I-270 in St. Louis County. The proposed work would upgrade Route 367 to a freeway facility between Route 67 and I-270. Included in the project are right-of-way acquisition, grading, and the construction of two 24-foot roadway surges, ramps, and six bridges.

Lusher and Benham Roads would be converted to one-way outer roadways. The $14,082,000 project would be financed by $10,569,000 in federal funds and $3,523,000 in state funds.

Schleicher's ready—where's the Baby Ruth?

LARRY SCHLEICHER

Special to The Press-Record
MARYVILLE, Mo. — It was Monday afternoon. Larry Schleicher had just finished a morning crammed with classes on the first day of Northwest Missouri State University's fall semester and he was saying he could hardly sit still during the day.

It wasn't that the classwork was boring for Larry Schleicher, the student, a 21-year-old Granite City North product who's a physical education and health major. It was just that Larry Schleicher, the athlete, 6-0, 170-pound senior wide receiver who's going for his fourth Bearcat football letter in 1979, could hardly wait for the first practice of "game week" and the contest at the end of the preparation, last Saturday's season starting kick-off at Augustana, S.D.

Schleicher (SLISH-er) missed the last team tuneup (last week's Green-White game) for the opener because of a back injury. He was sidelined last season with a neck problem when Augustana's Vikings started the Bearcats down the 0-11 trail, 24-15.

That Schleicher's ready to go there's little doubt. As far as the team is concerned, the receiver ticks off bigger, quicker offensive and defensive linemen, improved running backs from the recruit ranks, a solid quarterback situation even though the school's most prolific passer ever is gone, a good and deep wide-out-tight end crops, experienced linebackers and secondary performers as indications that the Cats have their sights on starting a comeback this season.

Schleicher made nine catches, half of his Northwest career total, as he played the most of his Northwest stay last season. Still, that's quite a drop from his senior prep campaign when he was an all-Illinois first teamer, grabbing 44 passes for over 750 yards and six TDs, for Granite City North's Steelers.

Oya team whose air arm has been a strength the past couple of campaigns, some fans have gotten the impression that Schleicher is the "forgotten man" as far as receiving is concerned.

"Not being thrown to as often or making as many catches as I did in high school bothered me at first but I realize now it takes 11 players to play this game," Schleicher says. "I know I'm a much improved blocker, better at running pass routes and better at knowing how to get open."

He's set his sights on 20 receptions this season and expresses a world of confidence in senior quarterback Mark Smith. Schleicher calls Smith a (Continued on Page 15)

High school girls are women champs

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — For many of the softball teams entered in the Granite City Park Districts Labor Day Tournament it was the final summer fling with softball. The tournament offered some surprises and some familiar names. It even lasted a day longer than originally planned, but that was only because Mother Nature had different plans. In the women's half of the tournament, five teams began the tournament before only one team — G&G Car Wash — was left with less than two losses.

On the men's side the Quad-City Businessmen took the low road to the championship, coming from out of the losers bracket to claim the title.

In the case of G&G Car

Wash, women might not be accurate in description. The team is made up of girls, high school girls.

But the fact that G&G brought home a victory is not surprising, even considering the relatively surprising division from which they came.

In the past week, G&G has been the winners of three — count 'em — three tournaments.

Last weekend G&G won the Mitchell Softball Tournament against the same team it faced in the final game of the Labor Day tournament, Mitchell Athletic Club.

Later in the week G&G won the Granite City Women's City Tournament, defeating the powerful Apple Valley team twice.

And finally this past weekend added yet a third tournament victory with the Labor Day win.

G&G is comprised of players ranging in age from 14-17. In addition to a solid hitting line-up the defense is stingy. And on the mound, pitcher Adrienne Pumphrey is consistently a winner.

G&G began the Labor Day tournament by beating Dupo Florist. Thursday. Entering the winners bracket, G&G downed Mitchell Athletic Club, Friday and looked forward to the final on Saturday.

MAC was the eventual opponent, earning the chance to compete for the championship by squeezing past Green's Confectionary, 3-2.

G&G beat MAC for the second time 12-6. G&G banged out 13 hits in the game, including two triples by Dianne Sak, another triple by Amy Lynn, and a double by Susan Jeffries.

Jeffries double came in the fifth, when G&G scored eight of its 12 runs. One of Sak's triples also occurred in the fifth.

For the men, it was a longer road taken by Quad-City Businessmen. A member of the Men's BA league during the regular season, QCBM was the eventual winner from among (Continued on Page 15)

Greater Granite Grind

GRANITE CITY — The Greater Granite Grind, a 10,000 meter run and a two-mile run, will be held in Granite City, Saturday, Sept. 15. The run is being sponsored by Granite City Chrysler-Plymouth and the Tri City Area YMCA running club, The Tri-City Striders.

The two-mile run will begin at 7:30 a.m. The 10,000 meter run will begin at 8:15 a.m. Both races will start and finish on Edison Street in downtown Granite City between the Tri City Area YMCA and the City Hall.

The course for the 10,000 meter run will be as follows: Down Edison to 27th Street; Down Edison to 27th Street; Down Edison to 21st Street; Right on 21st to Benton; Down Benton to 27th Street at Wilson Park; Once around Wilson Park to Cleveland Avenue; Down Cleveland to 21st; Left on Cleveland to Edison and finish line.

The proposed route for the two-mile run will be: Down Edison to 26th Street; Left on 26th to Cleveland; Down Cleveland to 21st; Left on 21st to Edison and finish line.

Participants will be given accurate splits at the 1,2,3,4, and 5 mile marks on the 10,000 meter run. There will also be water stations along the clearly-marked, flat course.

There will be a limit of one race per entrant. The entry fee is $4 per person or $10 per family. All non-refundable entry fees must be received by Sept. 12. Free T-shirts will be given to the first 300 paid entrants. Medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in both events for the following age categories: Under-18, 18 to 29, 30 to 39, 40 to 49, 50-and-Over. Ribbons will be awarded to the team of four with the lowest time and the oldest and youngest finishers (1,000 meters only), family with the most finishers and schol with the most finishers (two-mile only). Entry packets can be picked up at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Avenue, between 7:30 a.m. and 9 p.m. Sept. 13 and 14 and on the day of the races.

G & G CAR WASH Nancy Mikolaszuk, seen here in regular season action, was just one of the talented high-school-aged women who recorded their third consecutive tournament victory in the Labor Day Tournament.

Ross winner again

By JEFF EAVES

for the Press-Record
Saturday night's late model feature was won by red hot driver Joe Ross of Mechanicsburg, Ill., and Ross almost won the "Labor Day 2000" stock car race at the Tri-City Speedway last night.

But on the last lap of the 30-lap feature, Ross' engine blew in the number three turn enabling Mike Niffenegger of Kalona, Iowa to take the lead and go on to win the $500 first-place finish.

Dan Dickey of Packwood, Iowa starting on the first row outside, led the feature through the first eight laps, but then Ross took over the lead.

Ross, who had a comfortable four-car lead, was falling off the pace as local favorite C. C. Corbin of E. Alton, Ill., passed Roger Long of Pittman, Ill., and came up on Ross' bumper.

As the race proceeded, Niffenegger, who started on the fifth row pole, used the low groove and got around Corbin on the 27th lap.

Saturday night, Joe Ross of Mechanicsburg, Ill., continued his hot streak as he captured the 20-lap late model feature at Tri-City Speedway.

Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo., jumped out in front, after starting on the front row and looking like no one could catch him, but Ross, who started on the third row, moved through the traffic and pressured Wallace until lap 16.

Ross passed Wallace coming out of the second turn. The victory was Ross' fourth feature win in a row and his seventh win of the year.

Mike Wallace finished second followed by Kenny Schrader of Baldwin, Mo., Steve Frase of Montrose, Iowa, Dick Taylor of Springfield, Ill., Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis.

An option fee to compete in AAU swimming events is $12. The fee includes $30 individual AAU membership, $1 YMCA team membership, with the balance being used the season to pay individual fees at AAU swim meets.

Last pre-season games . . .

SIUE's trip west for real

EDWARDSVILLE — The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer Cougars have ended their pre-season schedule and are now preparing to embark on a West Coast road trip that will feature games against two national champions. Saturday, the Cougar varsity faced a team of former Cougars in the annual alumni game. The contest ended in a 4-4 tie.

The varsity led 2-1 at the half with goals from Steve Schnell and Dave Hummert. The alumni first-half goal was scored by Terry Kestas. In the second half the varsity quickly increased its lead to 3-1 with a goal from Morris Mwongo. But the alumni bounced back to a 4-3 lead with three consecutive unanswered goals, the last of which was scored by Minnesota Kick Mark Moran.

The Cougar's Stuart Stevenson scored late in the second half, tying the score and avoiding a loss.

Friday, the Cougars easily downed Wheaton College 4-0. And Thursday tied with the Blackpool, England Club, 4-4.

The final exhibition games mark the last home appearances by the Cougars until Sept. 21 when the Cougars will host the Cougar Classic tournament.

In the meantime, the Cougars will take the road for 6 games against western opponents beginning Sept. 8 in Barnaby, British Columbia with a game against Simon Fraser College.

The trip will include games against both the Division I and II national champions. Sept. 14 the Cougars will face the large school champion University of San Francisco and Sept. 11 will meet the small school champion Seattle Pacific. The trip will also include stops at the University of Washington, Sept. 10, the University of Santa Clara, Sept. 16, and UCLA, Sept. 18.

LION COUNTRY. SIUE Cougar Tim Guelker (No. 14) carries the ball through a pack of Blackpool England's Lions. SIUE met Blackpool Thursday and lost 2-1. It was the Cougars' final weekend of pre-season games.

Busch beefs up Mizzou

COLUMBIA — Thanks to Anheuser-Busch, the University of Missouri Tiger football players will "beef up" their efforts to capture the Big Eight Conference championship in 1979.

In fact, the grand champion steer of the 1979 Missouri State Fair in Sedalia will find its way to the Tiger training table; the gift of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., of St. Louis.

Representing the world's largest brewer in bidding at the fair's sale of champions Thursday, Aug. 23, Robert C. Beykirch, president of County Distributing Co., Inc., of Sedalia, the area distributor of Anheuser-Busch beers, bought the 1,200-pound cross bred Chianina Angus champion for Anheuser-Busch.

The champion steer was then immediately presented by Anheuser-Busch to the University of Missouri athletic department. The steer will remain on display through the end of the fair, at which time it will be shipped to Concordia, Mo., for processing. It will then go to the athletic dining hall where all Mizzou athletes are fed.

The champion Chianina Angus was the prize steer of 16-year-old Julie Kisse of Springfield, Mo. The sale of the blue ribbon winner brought $5,000.

James E. Craine, Anheuser-Busch sales manager for this region, characterized the gift as "an indication of the company's support and pride in the Mizzou athletic program. You might say we wanted to recognize champions with a champion (the steer)," he said.

Anheuser-Busch has long supported University of Missouri athletics. In 1978, the Missouri homecoming king and queen were presented to the 70,000-plus fans at the Missouri-COlorado football game aboard the antique Budweiser draught beer wagon pulled by the world-renowned Clydesdales. The eight-horse Clydesdale hitch will again visit Missouri's Faurfeld Field when the Tigers take on the University of Nebraska.

Then Friday Quad-City faced the Raiders for the first of three games the two teams would play. Quad-City lost the opening match.

Saturday's scheduled final game of the tournament at Worthen Park were rained out, so the finals of the tournament were moved up to Sunday.

In the first game Sunday, Quad-City faced P and S Tire, and advanced to a chance to compete for the championship with a 2-1 win.

But in order to win the tournament, Quad-City had to defeat the Raiders twice because the Raiders had yet to lose in the double elimination tournament.

In the first game, Quad City ended by with a 3-1 win. Then in the championship game it played an eight-inning contest. Quad-City's Randy Roustio recorded his fourth win of the tournament as Quad-City won 13-10.

Rose, running for Boston...

GRANITE CITY — Rick Rose has been running a long time. But he hasn't run far enough yet to suit him.

Rose, who holds the world's record for running 100 miles, is in training for a) the New York Marathon, b) the New Orleans Marathon, c) the Boston Marathon and his highest goal d) the Olympic Trials.

The Granite City distance runner will go to New York Oct. 21 for that city's marathon race, a 26-mile torture trek through the streets of the Big Apple. Next year, he will go to Boston for the oldest and most prestigious marathon in the world.

"These are the two biggest races in my life," said Rose. "How I do in them will pretty well tell me how I can do later on down the road."

Rose runs in as many races as he can. He will be entered in the "Greater Granite Grind" Sept. 15 in Granite City, the Dupo "Run for the Library" Sept. 22 and the Busch Natural Light Run Sept. 30 in St. Louis.

Rose has lived most of his running life in the shadows of fellow area standout, LeRon's Craig Virgin, the one of the top distance runners in the world. However, when Rose was District cross country champion in his senior year of high school, Virgin was also a state meet qualifier — as a freshman. "He's the best, no doubt about it," Rose said of Virgin. "I've known him pretty well for a long time now. I've run against him also. He's going to win a gold medal for the United States in Moscow (Olympics), wait and see."

That is also a goal of Rose. "I really would like to go to the Olympic Trials and qualify," he said. "If I work hard enough and put enough miles, I can do it."

Besides wanting to represent his country well, Rose also wants to represent Granite City.

"I'm very proud to be from Granite City," he said.

He said he owes much of his success to three fellow Quad Cityans, Jim Whitt, Ron Grzywacz and Keith Parker.

"Jim (Whitt) has been a full sponsor for me for three years," said Rose. "He has never let me down and has supported me solidly. He hasn't really gotten any thanks before except for a few of the well, I receive on his behalf at some of my races."

White operates a Real Estate Agency in Granite City.

"Ron (Grzywacz) has supported me quite a bit also. He's chipped in with uniforms and moral support." Grzywacz owns G&G Car Wash in Madison.

"Mr. Parker has helped me in hundreds of ways," Rose said. "He's given me advice since I was running in junior high."

"There have been several times along the way I might have quit had it not been for Mr. Parker. He could explain to me why there was such a pain in my legs, or tell me what to do to improve myself. He's probably the best coach I've ever had or ever will have."

Parker is a coach and physical education teacher at Coolidge Junior High School in Granite City.

Rose lists the following other sponsors:

Schleicher's

Fran Tarkenton-type who has a strong throwing arm and is a better runner than the 'Cats have had at the signal-calling spot for some time.

"It was a big game for us," Schleicher said of Saturday's opener into which Northwest took a 12-game loss string. "We got off to a bad start last year against Augustana, stepping out of bounds on the one with the opening kickoff, then fumbling and giving up an easy touchdown. That sort of set the tone for our season. We wanted to start strong this time," Schleicher said.

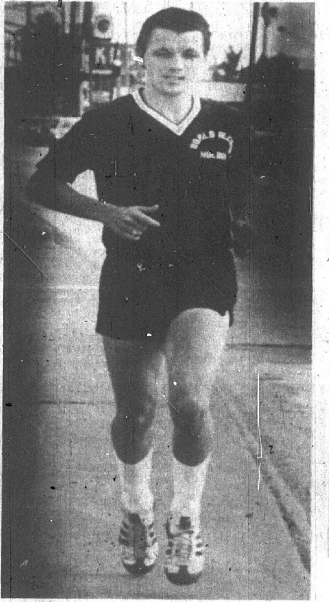

If Schleicher had had his way as a high school sophomore, he might not be playing college football today. He'd just averaged 21 points as a basketballer for Bill Ohlendorf and was considering concentrating on hoops. But then, a coach at North convinced him to give football a go. He did and the grid game (plus an early flirt with track) have been his sports at Northwest.

Schleicher says he isn't superstitious about his game. But he carries on a ritual picked up in high school prior to a game with arch-rival Granite City South. He always pops in a Baby Ruth candy bar and washes that down with a Dr. Pepper before a game.

So, if you want to catch up with Schleicher before a game, just check the candy and soda machines around the hotel. Larry will be there shortly before the game time, thinking about the 10 o'clock hour and hoping he can say "how sweet it is" to the candy, the pop and the victory.

"I'm excited. I'm ready to go," he said.

Positive steps needed to salvage highways, streets

Even those who haven't been driving much lately are aware that Illinois highways and streets are in the best of shape. Legislators ought to take action to correct that in their special session starting Wednesday.

It still is surprising that lawmakers weren't willing this spring to add the cent or cent and a half tax per gallon of gasoline needed for an adequate road repair and construction program.

Partisanship and fear of a tax revolt were factors in their hesitancy. But it surely cannot be good politics to let traffic surfaces deteriorate to the point where passenger vehicles suffer costly and unexpected damage.

Madison County Highway Superintendent Les Miller, an opponent of two previous transportation funding plans, is supporting tomorrow's proposal. The earlier programs reduced state aid for roadwork while increasing revenue for local-level agencies.

Gasoline tax hike that seemed unlikely to pass. Miller says the latest proposal "is probably one of the better offers the Department of Transportation has presented to the governor." It would increase motor fuel tax revenue to counties, townships and municipalities by about 18 percent.

Projections are that the Madison County highway department will get an increase from last year's $1.1 million to $2.1 million, area cities' share will climb from $2.3 million to $2.7 million, and this county's townships will get $600,000 instead of $500,000. The latter also are slated to receive a proportionate share of a new $15 million state program for town bridges.

The total increase for local roads is estimated at 24 percent, one of the principal changes from previous planning. A 2.5 percent portion of existing sales tax revenue is to go to the motor fuel tax fund instead of the state's general revenue fund, a transfer of at least $120 million. The formula for this distribution is 60 percent to cities, townships and counties and 40 percent to the state.

Governor James H. Thompson (Republican), Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne (Democrat), both minority (R) legislative leaders and the Senate president (D) are supporting a one percent additional sales tax on Cook County residents and an added 0.25 percent increase on residents in DuPage, Lake, McHenry, Will and Kane counties to help support the Regional Transit Authority mass transit system. The House speaker (D) says he won't fight it.

The $800 million package also includes levying the five percent gasoline tax now levied by the six RTA counties, eliminating $147 million annual state subsidies to the RTA, boosting the fare on RTA buses and trains about five cents, taxing car sales between four and five percent (over a period of four years) diversions from the road fund to non-road projects.

Chuckyholes and shaky bridges are a reality in Illinois. Also fact is the prospective City of St. Louis $70 million in federal funds for Illinois highways. The time for General Assembly action is now, if the state is to prevent the collapse of its vitally-needed highway network.

'The times, they are a-changing' song is still true

Press-Record Bureau—It is hard to imagine the protest movement of the 1960s without the folk singers who popularized its best known anthems. Entertainers such as Pete Seeger, Bob Dylan, Joan Baez and Arlo Guthrie linked civil rights and anti-war causes to a folk music revival that gathered steam in the late '60s and held strong well into the '70s.

For most of those years, the Newport Folk Festival was an annual event celebrated by music fans, entertainers and protesters alike as a kind of counterculture convention. Musical careers were launched or enhanced amid a flowering of radical politics. Commercialism was shunned by purists who, in 1971, all but booted Bob Dylan off the Newport stage for departing from the traditional simplicity of folk music's ancient origins.

Woodstock in 1969 eclipsed forever the radical aura of the Newport festival. The young turned from folk music to rock. Protest turned psychedelic and hallucinogenic. Newport faded into history, mourned only by suburban couples in their 30s.

The recent cancellation of an attempted revival of the Newport festival wrote a final footnote to the end of an era. Only 780 of 15,000 tickets had been sold.

Folk music once again is a pursuit for purists untainted by commercialism. Joan Baez stands accused by radicals half her age of collaboration with the CIA, Bob Dylan is a wealthy recluse.

Pete Seeger is semi-retired. (He and Arlo Guthrie still provide interesting concert fare but they failed this summer to attract serious advance interest.) He proceeded with a scheduled Mississippi River Festival appearance.

The Communists have been fighting communism in Indochina. And then there is George McGovern (remember his Saturday night speech in Granite City three days before his landslide loss to Richard Nixon?). His 1972 campaign manager, Gary Hart, now a U.S. senator from Colorado, currently favors increased defense spending.

As Dylan once put it, "The times, they are a-changing."

Handicap vocational class need

To be Edited:

On Aug. 23, the Press-Record ran an advertisement from the director of vocational and career education for Granite City School District 8.

It listed 22 vocational programs offered to "actively-enrolled students, regardless of race, color, sex, national origin or handicap."

I believe this is a false statement, as can be proved by parents of handicapped students. One caller was told her children did not qualify. Are they too religious, or maybe too handicapped?

These children walk more than a mile unaided to school and have been taught to drive. Does Granite City realize the need to train this type of child to become productive citizens? It should.

The city fathers have been asked for years to help set up a community living arrangements for the handicapped. To date, there are none and none in the planning.

In most cases, the only option open to the handicapped is the workshop.

The pay there is not even enough to cover the cost of public transportation for the clients.

Granite City is not alone in its area of its primitive way of dealing with the handicapped. Madison and Venice offer no vocational programs.

A Madison student was given three study halls in place of vocational training. The public may not be aware of the federal law, PL 94-142, Education of the Handicapped, but it does make it clear that vocational training should be offered to handicapped students if it is offered to normal students.

Granite City has a fine vocational program for its normal students.

The Parents for Special Education have been working within the system for years to get one for the handicapped, and his advertisement seemed a Godsend.

Good examples for the system to follow are the St. Louis County Special District and Cahokia.

We wonder what the purpose of the misleading ad was? We doubt the sincerity, and are disillusioned again this year.

DAMAGES YARD

An auto backed into the yard at the home of Carol Gordon, 2903 Warren Ave., spun its tires in the grass, leaving two tire tracks about 25 feet long, and then sped away, nearly striking a utility pole and the Gordon's daughter's parked auto about 1 a.m. Saturday. The driver then stopped near the parked car and got out, looking like he was about to do something to life car, but fled when an occupant of the home yelled at him.

INDECENCY CHARGED

Paul T. Conrod, 20, of 3161 Jill Ave., was arrested at 7:35 p.m. Friday at Joy and Davis avenues and was charged with three counts of public indecency. He allegedly exposed himself to several persons on Carlson Avenue, including girls ages 6 and 12.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT

Jeffrey Gean, 13, of 2819 E. 25th, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 4 p.m. Saturday after he fell off a motorcycle while riding a cycle and broke his right wrist. He was taken to surgery Monday morning.

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN
The current energy crisis provides a field day for theorists who want to limit opportunity for individuals and nations.

This was made clear at the International Conference on Faith, Science and the Future held in July at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology under auspices of the World Council of Churches.

According to the Boston Globe, "many participants" in the conference argued that developed nations must reduce their material standard of living. This line of argument isn't surprising because the WCC is consistently hostile to the economically advanced nations.

Typical of the speakers was Dr. Herman A. Daly, professor of economics at Louisiana State University. He proposed that rich nations reduce their levels of economic activity.

A lowered standard of living, in his view, could be achieved by setting a limit on "the aggregate annual resources consumed."

He also called for punitive government action against productive people in the United States. He called for "a maximum income limit," to name only two examples.

These notions are nothing new. They are a mix of anti-industrial anarchism and old-fashioned socialism.

Prof. Daly's scheme would deny growth, progress and achievement to resourceful men and nations. He imagines that this denial would promote justice in the world.

Certainly, there are problems with economic growth. But much that modern man seeks in the enhancement of life and general well-being is derived from growth.

Without growth, there wouldn't be advancing science and the quality medical treatment that is a by-product of such science—to name only two examples.

What a dismal notion it is that all nations and all people should be on the same level! This is the fundamental socialist notion, of course.

If it had prevailed in times past, the world would have been deprived of the Aristotle, Shakespeares and Einsteins. The pioneers of science, engineering and production would have been restricted to small workshops and limited rewards.

The mass of people in advanced countries would have continued to live under near-medieval conditions. Modern man in the Western world has been emancipated by scientific development and the capitalist system that makes possible the release and utilization of productive energies.

The hope of individual and national reward sparked the enterprises that provide creature comforts to millions of people.

The skilled doctor, with the assurance of adequate compensation for the use of his talents, has steadily improved the quality of medical care. The inventor, with the hope of reward, has devised countless useful, important and often life-saving devices.

Prof. Daly and others who share his outlook would substitute a static for a progressive society. They would deny outstanding individuals and countries the opportunity to release new energy and pioneer for the future.

To create a no-growth, no-profit society would be a terrible act of injustice against future generations.

INDECENCY CHARGED

Steve H. Mejaki, 33, who said he resides at the Illini Motel, 1100 N. Dearborn Ave., was arrested on the grounds of Coolidge Junior High School at 4:45 p.m. Sunday and was charged with public indecency. It is alleged he exposed himself to a group of students in the school's gymnasium, 29th and State streets, in sight of a couple. Officers chased him from Wilson Park at 4:45 p.m. Sunday. He was arrested. He was released on $100 cash bond.

THEFT FROM STORE

Items valued at about $20 were stolen from Chung's Oriental Foods, 2501 Iowa St., between 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday. A previously broken window had been covered with a sign which was removed. It is believed about 10 rice bowls and a box containing five tea cups were taken by reaching through the window and pulling them out.

FRIGHTENS INTRUDER

Ralph Pieper, 2444 E. 24th St., told police that his daughter frightened a would-be burglar from her bedroom window at 1 a.m. Saturday. The daughter said she was awakened by a noise at the window and when she opened the curtains, she saw a neighborhood man opening the window. He fled when he saw her. Police later arrested a 25-year-old man from the same block and were holding him pending consideration of charges.

VANDALIZE ROOMS

A vandal caused extensive damage to the apartment of Melody Timmons, 3308 Harvard Place, the building owner discovered at 1:44 a.m. Sunday. The refrigerator was tipped on its back, furniture was overturned and damaged, sugar, flower and broken glass were thrown on the floor, chairs were thrown off the second floor porch and the rear stair railing was broken off.

TAKE BRIDAL GIFT

A bag containing $300 was stolen from the bridal table at the wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilkinson, Rural Route One, Box 1274, Granite City, at the American Legion hall Saturday night. Police arrested one of the wedding reception guests at 1:50 p.m. Sunday and were holding him for investigation.

Dies of gunshot wound

Gary D. Patton, 24, of 5113 Rockwood Road, died Monday evening in Firmin Desloge Hospital from a gunshot wound to the head.

According to a Madison County Sheriff's department deputies were called to the Patton home at 6:25 p.m. Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies reported finding Mr. Patton lying face up on a bed in his bedroom with a .22 caliber pistol lying next to him.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center in a private ambulance. He died at St. Louis hospital, where he died.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Barbara A. Patton. He was employed as a crane helper at Granite City Steel.

The body is at the St. Louis morgue pending an inquest, according to St. Louis authorities.

Funeral arrangements were indefinite today.

Two hurt seriously on I-270

Two men were seriously injured when a tire on their auto blew out on Interstate 270 just east of the Mississippi River at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Clifton Causey, 25, of Granite City, suffered a cut to his chin and left leg and abrasions to his lower legs. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Floyd Benjamin, St. Louis, was transferred from the medical center here to Firmin Desloge Hospital in St. Louis, with a bloody nose and severe internal injuries. Authorities said he was found face-down on the pavement after being thrown from the vehicle.

Granite City Fire Department Paramedic Matthew Gasparovic and Emergency Medical Technician Cookie White came across the accident and gave treatment at the scene until city ambulances arrived. Gasparovic went in the ambulance to the medical center.

A third man involved in the accident suffered only minor injuries and declined to be taken for treatment.

Nestle employee overcome by smoke

Granite City firemen responded at 8:55 this morning to the Nestle Co. plant, 2101 Adams St., on a report of an electrical fire. A tea dryer was later found to be the problem. The dryer, which uses cotton filter bags, was turned on this morning and one of the filter bags ignited, firemen

Shots hit STORES
Shotgun blasts were fired at the Dairy Bar, East 28th Street and Namekiki Road, and at Al's Auto Parts, 2512 Namekiki Road, it was discovered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

At the Dairy Bar, a large plate glass window was broken and glass and pellets damaged a milk cooler, the ceiling and numerous items in the building. There was only minor damage at Al's, where pellets struck near a window, sources indicated.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Kenneth Good, 50, Hartford, was injured in an auto accident in the East Alton area and was brought by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 2:40 p.m. Thursday where he was admitted with a cut to his chin and over his right eye.

SHOT FIRED AT BOY

A shot from a passing auto struck the home of James Bailey, 16, of 2837 Harding Ave., nearly hitting the youth, who was seated on the front porch. Bailey said the shot was fired from a black over brown Ford Torino.

Lions make dreams come true

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

A thrilling two-week holiday has created happy and vivid memories for five young people from Granite City who attended Little Giant Camp Lions near Carbondale, Ill., last month.

Challenging activities were among the most enjoyed aspects of the camp, the youngsters reported.

Such activities, more often than not, focused upon learning new, different and exciting skills.

Take rappelling, for instance, the art of climbing cliffs using ropes, or compass and map reading or what about cave exploring, just to mention a few.

What makes the camping adventure most unique is the participants themselves.

All of the youngsters are deaf or have a hearing impairment.

The children from here were an exception and joined the 101 campers taking part with great enthusiasm in all phases of camp life.

Not only deaf and hearing-impaired youngsters attend Little Giant Camp Lions, but blind and visually impaired youth look forward with equal zest to a two-week holiday there.

The campers, ranging from 8 to 16, are sponsored by individual Lions' clubs and those going from here were guests of the Granite City Lions, who paid their expenses.

Imagine skinning up the nearly sheer rock face of a cliff, inching, inch by inch, upward while complicated hand signals explain precisely where the next foothold can be found.

Scary, eh?

Not to the children involved in climbing the 100 foot cliff.

The hand signals are part of their everyday life and those directing the rappelling project are as equally adept at the deaf children's own sign language as the climbers themselves.

Although the camp features many challenging activities the children are never required to do something they are afraid to do.

Safety, plus the individual child's well being, always come first.

While rappelling, for example, the children are securely fastened with ropes to prevent them from falling, even if they should slip a little.

The rope is tied around their waist and around two trees at the top of the cliff, and also held by a camp counselor.

"The children wear hard hats and hold on to a second rope, secured at the top, as an extra precaution."

Counselors waiting at the top and bottom of the cliff carefully watch and guide each move the youthful climber makes in his or her ascent.

The cliff ascent is safe enough that blind children also participate in the rappelling project.

The children are challenged by many of the activities as a means to show them they are not limited, as many have been told, because of a disability," Elmer Wortham, camp project coordinator for the Granite City Lions, explained.

Self-confidence, self-reliance and a good self-image are important to growing up and meeting problems in life and the overall camp program is subtly geared to these goals, he noted.

Older children in 1977, also an overnight campout experience while at Little Giant, crossing a lake, camping under the stars and then going across another lake.

They learn to function in a wilderness situation and to find their way back to the main camp grounds by using maps, compasses and their own observations, it was explained.

A youngster quickly learns to appreciate another handicapped child's problems, Wortham said.

Underscoring this recognition are activities they do together.

In other events, the visually impaired and blind children learn to progress through a special maze constructed for deaf youngsters, with the groups then reversing the procedure.

Camp Lions Little Giant, opened only in 1978, is located at Southern Illinois University's Touch of Nature Center, about 10 miles from Carbondale on the shores of Little Grass Lake.

The Illinois Lions also operate Camp Lions Ravenswood at Lake Villa, north of Chicago, a camp they established last year.

Little Giant camp grew from the success at Ravenswood, Wortham said.

The camp near Carbondale occupies 80 acres of the 6,500-acre Touch of Nature Center.

There are 16 cabins, each housing six to eight campers and two counselors, and two dormitories housing 36 children each.

Other structures include a dining hall, chapel, craft area, boys' and girls' shower facilities, library, education building, an Indian center and a dispensary.

Campers also have use of a beach on Little Grass Lake, as well as canoes and a pontoon boat.

In addition to swimming, rappelling, hiking and boating, the children learn to explore caves, ride horses and perform in a talent show.

They enjoy hayrides and singing, make crafts, become involved in ecological projects and hold "cow work," dressing up in Indian costume and presenting their interpretation of Indian dances.

Camp Lions Little Giant is staffed and directed by SIU.

The staff consists of a director of the handicapped program, camp director, three registered nurses and 50 counselors.

Each counselor is selected for his or her experience, experience and ability to deal with handicapped children, Wortham said.

Many are SIU students majoring in the field of special education who receive extra training to deal effectively with the different needs of a handicapped child when away from home.

Local volunteers arrange for the children to attend camp and provide transportation.

Elmer Wortham and his wife, Janis, escorted the youngsters to Little Giant and the return trip was made with the help of James Miller Jr., and Dave Long and Frankie Greathouse from St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Evelyn Leeper served as volunteer coordinator for the camping experience.

Funds for the two-week holiday were provided by the Granite City Lions, who they established last year.

The Venice School District Title I-Title VII Advisory Council will meet at 10:20 a.m. Thursday in the Venice School library.

Mrs. Althea Cross, program director, said principal business of the meeting will be completion of evaluation reports concerning projects in the 1978-79 school year.

The program evaluations are required, prior to a Sept. 20 deadline, by federal and state agencies that fund the various projects, Mrs. Cross explained.

The Venice Advisory Council consists of 25 citizens-at-large and staff members under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Charlotte Dilday and Mrs. Ila Flagg.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Blankley, who were married at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church. The bride is the former Sheila Vizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Vizer, 1645 Spruce St.

Sheila Vizer becomes Mrs. Larry Blankley

Miss Sheila Vizer became the bride of Larry Blankley in a double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. July 7 at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church. The Rev. Victor Chateaufort officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Vizer, 1645 Spruce St.

The groom's parents are L. Duane Blankley of Livingston, Ill., and Mrs. Evelyn Blankley, 2605 Cayuga St.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white imported Chantilly lace fashioned with a molded beque bodice and high neckline, trimmed with crystal beading. The sheer yoke was outlined with lace motifs, etched with pearls and iridescent sequins, and the long lace sleeves were detailed with crystal beading.

Her bouffant skirt, worn over crinolines, was accented with jeweled motifs and pleating around the hemline, extending into a full sweep train.

She wore a large-brim hat covered with imported Chantilly lace, tiered over the brim, and tiny orange blossoms encircling the crown. Imported tulle streamers and bow completed the hat, to which was secured a veil of bridal illusion.

She carried a bouquet of silk flowers, including white roses, blue and white carnations, stephanotis and greenery.

The mother of the bride chose a floor length gown of blue chiffon designed with a high draped neckline and long cape. Seed pearls and rhinestones accented the waist.

The mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of mint green with a chiffon over blouse and Mandarin collar. The gown was trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones.

Elita Conko served as maid of honor and Pam Brockman and Jean Rees were the bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of peach, violet and maize organza over taffeta, featuring brief sleeves and high necklines.

Serving as best man was James Stewart Jr. and the groomsmen were Dennis Shemwell and Bruce Crow. Richard Mosby seated the guests.

A reception was held at the St. Louis Area Support Center.

The couple is at home in Granite City.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School and will attend SIUE this fall.

The groom is also a graduate of Granite City High School and is employed at American Steel Foundries.

Cloverview sponsors new club

At a meeting in the home of Mrs. Leo A. Roman, Glen Carbon, plans were formulated to organize a new garden club in the Iron Mountain Lake area.

Serving on the steering committee were officers and board members of District V, Garden Club of Illinois, Mrs. William Lindsey, vice-chairman, Mrs. Marcellus Kauffold, awards chairman, and Mrs. Cyril Kinsella.

Mrs. Lindsey opened the meeting with suggestions and outlines for starting a garden club and gave the rules and regulations for becoming federated with The Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., with which District V is affiliated.

As a civic project, it was noted the group will concentrate its efforts on beautifying their subdivision with the planting of flowering trees at the entrance and around their homes.

Mrs. Lindsey stressed the importance of recording the early history of the club; discussing and preparing list of topics — growing and showing plants and flowers, home beautification, and conservation — and relating to other civic concerns.

Mrs. Kauffold displayed several history books, yearbooks and books of evidence which had won awards at state conventions. Mrs. Kinsella showed copies of the Garden Glories magazine, which each member receives when federated with the Garden Club of Illinois.

The Garden Club of Illinois, Mrs. Lindsey explained, is an organization composed of 275 garden clubs in the state. Its purpose is to be beneficial, charitable, scientific and educational to the well-being of all and useful to the community. The objects are to organize and help garden clubs in the advancement of gardening, beautification of home grounds, civic beautification, protection of forests, wild flowers and birds, extermination of obnoxious weeds and improvement of highways.

Organized in 1927, the organization is a charter member of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, consisting of 14,000 clubs in this country and 120 affiliates over the world with a membership close to 400,000.

The new club is being sponsored by the Cloverview Garden Club of Granite City, with Mrs. Roman serving as an advisory capacity as temporary chairman.

Also present from the Cloverview Club were Mrs. John Jenkins, vice-president, and Mrs. B. C. O'Neill, treasurer. Mrs. Eldon Meikamp is president. Mrs. O'Neill gave a resume of national, state, district and local levels of garden clubs and noted some of the projects the Cloverview group participated in throughout the year. Mrs. Jenkins had copies of the new yearbooks of the Cloverview club.

With election of officers in September, the new group will also select a name for the club and the installation will take place in October. It will alternate day and evening meetings.

Present also at the initial meeting were Mesdames Dean Thompson, Alan W. Smith, Roger Pifer, Gary Baker, Ray Dragich, James Benjamin and Thomas Smothers, Dr. Roman and Terry Francis, president of the Iron Mountain Lake neighborhood association.

The group was reminded of the District V flower show which will take place on Sept. 29 at the First United Presbyterian Church, Collinsville.

'Women Involved' Day Oct. 6 at North High

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club this week announced completion of plans for the second annual "Women Involved" program, to be presented Saturday, Oct. 6, at Granite City High School North.

Wilma Large, general chairman, said the decision to sponsor the day-long seminar was made by the club due to the enthusiastic acceptance of the first awareness program for women held last September.

All women—whether or not they are currently employed, planning to enter the work force, retired or working at home—are invited to participate in the comprehensive education, training and fellowship program. BFW officers said.

Registration forms now are available by calling Mrs. Large at 797-6615, after 4:30 p.m.

Those registering prior to Sept. 15 will be charged an $8 fee, which includes a luncheon and fashion show.

After the advance registration date, the fee will be $10 per person. Participation is limited.

The special seminar will feature a panel discussion on "Today's Involved Woman" during the morning hours, starting at 9:30, a luncheon and style show, "Women on the Move" from 11:30 a.m. until 1:15 p.m., and a series of workshops from 1:30 until 3:45 p.m.

The workshop topics are: Assertiveness Training; A Woman Alone; Everything About Social Security; Starting Your Own Business; Women and Drug Dependence; Effective Time Management; Interview Techniques and Resumes; Raising Children Alone; Women in Management; and Finding the Right Job.

Each registrant may attend two workshops during the afternoon session.

Mrs. Large said the morning panel program will feature eight area women representing the full spectrum of today's feminine experience.

"Some members will be young, some more mature and some in-between," she commented.

The panel will include those fulfilling traditional roles assigned to women, such as housewife or secretary, while others have broken into roles that historically have been considered the domain of men, the chairman stated.

"Each member of the panel has been selected because she is a woman who has a zest for life and participates fully," Mrs. Large said.

Information booths containing a wide assortment of informative material also will be set up during the luncheon break.

Auxiliary membership at 205

Plans to attend the Eagles annual state conference in Springfield, scheduled this Saturday and Sunday, were discussed at last week's meeting of Eagles Auxiliary Unit 1125.

Shirley Robinson, president, is in charge of the business session, held at the Eagles Aerie on Madison Avenue.

She announced the District 8 auxiliary group will convene Oct. 7 in Jerseyville, with an election of officers as part of the business agenda.

Mrs. Tina Koehler was elected into the auxiliary, bringing the total membership to 205.

Reports were given by Helen Frazier, secretary; Leona Delaney, treasurer; and Kathleen Reed, visiting chairman.

An affair, donated by Vernie VonNida, was offered as a gift during the meeting and later presented to Ralph Hall.

"Proceeds will be contributed to the Heart Fund, according to Mrs. Reed and Shirley McGowan, co-chairmen.

A mass of appreciation was read from the Max Baer Heart Fund, and closing prayer was offered by Chaplain Edleen Rickert.

Music for the evening was presented by Louise Hall.

Hostesses Louise Batson and Nancy Mullien served refreshments.

Charity dinner set for Friday

Madison Junior Service Club is sponsoring a fish fry to be held Friday, Sept. 7, at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets. The proceeds will go to charitable purposes.

The dinner, which will include a fish sandwich, cole slaw, homemade desserts and coffee or punch, is $2 a plate or $1 per sandwich. Carryouts are planned and serving will be from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tickets may be purchased by any club member, at the door or by calling 877-1111. Carol Robertson is president of the group.

Parent effectiveness class

Sister Helen Smith, SND, of the Living Resource Center, will conduct parent effectiveness training classes beginning Sept. 13 at the St. Joseph's Visitors Center.

Parent effectiveness training is a program developed by Dr. Thomas Gordon, a clinical psychologist, to help parents discover ways to raise happier and more responsible children.

After participating in the class, parents have reported better two-way communication, fewer power struggles, warmer feelings within the family, better school performance, and the National Society of Our Lady of the Snows' 9500 W. Ill. Rt. 15. The eight-week course will meet on Thursday evenings (7 to 10) in the St. Joseph's Visitors Center.

A mass of appreciation was read from the Max Baer Heart Fund, and closing prayer was offered by Chaplain Edleen Rickert.

Music for the evening was presented by Louise Hall.

Hostesses Louise Batson and Nancy Mullien served refreshments.

Sobol hurt in accident

John Sobol Jr., 15, of 1 Janine Court, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after he hit his forehead on the windshield during a two-car accident in front of McDonald's Restaurant, 1515 Johnson Road, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Sobol was a passenger in the auto of Glen Thompson, 2612 Pontoon Road, which allegedly struck the rear of the stopped vehicle of Michael Christian, 308 Harvard Place, which was stopped to make a left turn into the restaurant.

A Granite City Fire Department pumper was required to wash gasoline leaking from the tank of Christian's vehicle from the pavement.

Sobol suffered an injury above his right eye and forehead and pain to his right elbow. X-rays were taken and he was admitted for surgery done Sunday morning.

Levy-Crown engagement

A Sept. 29 wedding is being planned by Miss Robin Gail Cowin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan B. Cowin of Venice, and Edward Thomas Levy.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Levy Sr. of Granite City.

Miss Cowin is a 1976 graduate of Madison High School. Her fiancé attended Granite City High School South and is employed at Bulk Service Corp. in Granite City. He is a member of the Army Reserve.

New members join Women of Moose here

Senior Regent Rosella Mead called the business meeting of the Women of the Moose to order at the Granite City Moose Home.

Voted into membership of Granite City Chapter 247 were Mrs. Helen Smith, sponsored by Junior Regent Pauline Presley; and Mrs. Gail Coleman and Maybell Boren, both sponsored by Ritual Director Marian Lipscomb. They will be enrolled into membership on the publicly chapter night, Sept. 12.

Pro-tems for the evening were Helen Davis, Jay Kahn, Marcella Bruce, Jean Teller, Jackie Danheiser, Vi Campbell and Alice McGee. The monthly report for membership was given by the chairman, Maureen Burris.

Mrs. Mead has been asked by the deputy grand regent, Helen Burke, to participate in the coronation of the Queen of Sponsors Ball during a convention on Sept. 21 in Peoria.

It is the first time anyone from the Granite City chapter has taken part.

Mrs. Mead sponsored 13 co-workers last year as junior regent. Miss Barbara Burris was voted on by the co-workers to be sponsored as the Granite City chapter's student nurse for three years. Her father has been a member of Granite City Moose Lodge 272 for 18 years. Miss Burris will be attending Belleville Area College.

The election of a treasurer was held prior to the chapter meeting, serving on the committee were Margaret Hester, Diana Warnhoff and Donna Westbrook. Veronica Wilson was elected to fill the treasurer's office. Mrs. Mildred Votupaul served as the installing officer and installed Mrs. Wilson.

Refreshments were served to 35 co-workers by the membership committee. Prizes were awarded to Loretta Miller, Virginia Sever and Anna Kuzma during a social hour.

The next chapter meeting will be on Sept. 12 and the publicity chairman, Viola Favier, will be in charge. All co-workers are to attend the meeting and bring in candidates for Academy of Friendship degrees.

Some people build bridges

By MARY BRASE
"What I did on my summer vacation."

That's the standard assignment every student gets on the first day back at school.

This year, the 22 students in the summer Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will have an easy answer. "We built bridges," they can write.

For more than one of the Madison County teenagers who worked under the federal grant program through the Illinois Conservation Department, directed by SIUE associate professor Bob Williams, it was a summer job that turned into a matter of pride and accomplishment.

"It is something I can come back to later and say, 'I did this,'" Jeannette Steckling, an Edwardsville High School senior, said.

Supervised by teachers and guided by SIUE civil engineer Lee Hildebrand, she and her co-workers donned hardhats, leather boots and gloves each day to learn problem-solving on the job with a T-square and a ratchet wrench.

"I enjoyed it more than I thought I would," she said of the eight-week project. "At the end of the summer, I usually don't have anything to show for it. I don't have anything worthwhile."

This summer, she and her friends have a paycheck plus two bridges to their credit. And plenty of experience with the problems.

That is one of the advantages and part of the fun of building a timber bridge, Hildebrand said: "When something doesn't work or fit, you must improvise. It is problem-solving all the way."

For the bridge builders, the first problem came when they rolled the donated telephone poles down the hill to the site and discovered someone had helped himself to seven feet off the end of one.

The only thing to do was to cut what was left and span the wash where it was smaller, Hildebrand said. While work crews of five and six managed the sawing after carefully measuring the required 90-degree angle, he fashioned a wooden "saddle" for a nearby tree to be used as a middle support for the span.

It worked perfectly, except both ends of the poles needed to be anchored in concrete. The workers made the forms of earth and lumber for a Friday pouring so the concrete would "set up" over the long weekend.

Since the remote wooded area was an impossibility for a mixer truck, the workers bagged in the cement mix and "hoed it down" in wheelbarrow loads. They used a water truck the university keeps for young trees during dry spells.

"It's so easy," one girl remarked as she sloshed the mixture of cement and rocks and water back and forth with her hoe, much like a French chef at his sautépan. She stopped the rhythm only long enough to scrape a path across the bottom of the borrow and take a long look.

"It's not ready yet," she told her companions, anxious to pour.

On the log bed at the opposite end of the bridge, other workers were learning the ancient art of leveling the rounded poles with an adz, the hatchet-type tool that has left its mark on "squared building beams from pioneer Illinois on back.

When the base was flat enough to balance the bubble, the wooden one-by-ten planking went down over it.

"Can I nail the first one," a blonde worker in a pink tee-shirt asked.

Her companion bet she couldn't make five hits before she got her thumb. She picked up the challenge with the first plank and put it in place. A friend sat on the end to steady it.

"Go for it," they told her. After the first plank, the crew decided to stagger the left edge to add a little style.

After the first plank, the crew decided to stagger the left edge to add a little style. They finished the job with two-by-four handrails. The 20-foot span joined two wood-chipped paths along the trail, which the workers also completed.

After the first success, the second should be easy, right? Wrong.

The second bridge presented a totally different problem. A huge maple tree had already fallen across the creek, making a natural barrier, but one that most nature trail visitors were afraid to use.

The log was full of crooks and knots and was solidly wedged about 15 feet above the creekbed. The bridge builders decided to use it for a base and clamp the bridge around it in sections. They trimmed the branches and took all the bark off to expose the raw wood. A coat of creosote was added to preserve it.

Sir Arthur Bailey built bridges that way, Hildebrand said. It is like working with a giant erector set. He built a section, put it down and then built the next one.

The YCC crew wanted to use the same idea. Starting on the south side, they planned to put the pieces down over the connecting log. They would build on top of the log as they went along.

Hildebrand, a veteran of the 138th Army infantry, watched as they carried the first six-foot section out over the tree, balancing as they went.

"Slow it down," he warned. "It doesn't quite fit," Larry Tucker decided from his straddle perch at the far end.

"Can you spring it?" a worker suggested.

"It's on a big knot here," Tucker said. "I think we're going to have to shave off the knots."

"Go down a little bit. Those six-inch lag screws won't make it there."

"Get out of there and get me a hammer."

"You'll have to chisel in three inches," Hildebrand said. "She is going down."

"Get me a crowbar."

"I believe in an ax."

Still straddling the log, Tucker took the first swing at the offensive knot with the "Pulaski" (no one knows why they call it that) and missed. He moved his feet and legs back before he took a second swing.

"I feel I'm riding the range. I should have brought the saddle along."

After the first section was eased over the log and finally leveled, Hildebrand advised them to "make it a little on the easy-fit side the next time."

To keep it there, Tucker started turning the 10-inch bolts into the side plank and the log with a ratchet.

"That's a maple," the workers teased. "It'll take power to put those in."

Tucker worked through the plank and slipped. "It's not going in. It must not have hold of anything. It should worm its way in. Am I turning this the right way?"

He was, and a week later, all the sections were in line and ready for foot traffic.

The group finished the job with railroad tie steps up the steep incline to one approach, and dug in several steps down to the foot path level on the other. It is twice as long as the first bridge.

"You're a good nail driver," Hildebrand told one of the workers finishing the job. "And on your next job application, you could say you are an experienced roofer and served on a survey crew," he told another.

She was out here helping me with the survey and did the work, he explained. "They are employing lots of those for survey crews."

She smiled at the praise. How about bridge builder, she suggested.

State of Illinois County of Madison Notice of Request TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Public notice is hereby announced that selected projects incorporated as part of the Madison County Community Development Block Grant Program will be submitted for certification to the Department of Housing and Urban Development on September 19, 1979 for a grant of funds under Title I, Venice Township, Eagle Park, Neighborhood Revitalization—Purchase of Fire Truck and New Housing—Construction Program (1979-79th Year Program).

An environmental review record of the above projects for which funds are sought has been prepared. This may be examined by the public and copies obtained at the County Clerk's Office, Madison County, 130 Hillsboro Avenue, Edwardsville, Illinois.

Madison County will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Madison County is certifying to HUD that Madison County and Nelson Hagnauer, in his official capacity as Chairman, County Board, County Board, will accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, Madison County may use the Block Grant funds, and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept the objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on the following basis: (a) That the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer of the Madison County Board, or (b) that the applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD at National Headquarters, Chicago, Illinois. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered. If no objection is received after October 5, 1979 will be considered by HUD.
